SPORTSWOMAN ILLEGALLY
INFLUENCED SON,
SAYS ELDER GODAIRMiss Irene Gormley, to Whom
Was Willed Bulk of Estate,
Accused of Improperities.

HER SUIT IS ANSWERED

Father of Arthur G. Godair,
Killed in Auto Wreck, Says
She Supplanted Wife.

William H. Godair, whose son, Arthur G. Godair, bequeathed the greater part of his estate of more than $300,000 to his stenographer, Irene A. Gormley, 1938 College avenue, East St. Louis, Monday filed an answer in Judge Fisher's court to her suit to have set aside an agreement in which she accepted property valued at $25,000 in lieu of accepting her rights under the will.

Godair alleges in his answer that the agreement entered into was intended as a compromise and a settlement of all claims against the estate by Miss Gormley, and that it was entered into during a discussion of the matter, during which Miss Gormley said she did not care to see the will.

Godair alleges that Miss Gormley was informed at the conference at which the agreement was reached "that if the fact became public that she had been given more than her son's wife that the matter would be a public scandal."

Told Her of Improper Letters.
He also says that he told her he had certain improper letters which she had written to his son, and certain information relative to their acts while she was his confidential secretary, which would show that she had used undue influence in inducing him to make a will favorable to her and almost to the exclusion of his wife.

The answer also alleges that Godair's son and Miss Gormley had maintained an improper acquaintance for eight years, and that she had supplanted his wife, and that although her salary was only $75 a month, she and her mother took long trips, at times traveling for more than three months.

Her account with his son's commission firm, the father alleges, was overdrawn, once to the extent of $5000, and he says that at the time of the son's death it was greatly overdrawn.

Says He Gave Son $250,000.
The father says that he gave his son practically all the property he had, and that he gave him $250,000 on June 10, 1910. In concluding the answer, Godair states that Miss Gormley was not a relative of his son, that she maintained illegal relations, and that she dominated and controlled him.

He asks that the suit be dismissed on the ground that it does not come into court with clean hands.

Arthur G. Godair died March 13, from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

DEAF MUTE PARENTS SEE THEIR TWO SONS DROWN

Father and Mother Signal Frantically, but Fail to Attract Aid.
TERRE HAUTE, Ind., June 30.—Harry and Clyde Bowers, brothers, 12 and 7 years old, were drowned in the Wash river while their parents, who were on the bank and who are deaf mutes, frantically gestulated to attract the attention of other persons.

The two boys were playing in shallow water and the father was watching, when suddenly the heads of both disappeared below the surface. They had stepped in a hole.

Bowers and his wife failed to attract the attention of anyone, and Bowers plunged into the river. Though not a swimmer, he dived into the hole and brought up the boy, but the boy could not be resuscitated. The body of the other brother was recovered later.

In the meantime the mother had gone into the water and was nearly drowned. When taken to a nearby house she fainted repeatedly and is in a serious condition.

which started in the fertilizer department of the St. Louis Hide and Tallow plant, Second street and Talcott avenue, 4 a. m. Monday, damaged the stock and buildings $20,000, according to the estimate of Dr. Witt Steiger, president of the company. A two-story brick warehouse was destroyed and the engine room and other buildings were damaged. Spontaneous combustion in fertilizer is believed to have caused the fire.

John Boret, 45 years old, engineer on a fire engine, was injured when a hose attached to his engine burst. He was knocked down and bruised about the head and chest.

The west wall of the warehouse collapsed when six firemen were approaching it with a line of hose. Ten mules were released from the stable by firemen, who cut a hole in a wall on the side away from the fire.

HAVE YOU TRIED KEEPING YOUR THERMOMETER IN THE ICE BOX?
The local weather forecaster agrees with the official long distance prophets of Washington that cooler weather is in sight, following the record high temperature of the year Sunday when the thermometer registered 99 degrees in St. Louis at 4 p. m.

Monday morning's temperatures gave promise of the predicted change, but it was still warm enough to keep the soda fountain clerks on the jump.

At 9 a. m. the temperature was 58 degrees, which was two degrees cooler than at the same hour Sunday.

Official forecast for St. Louis and vicinity: Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; slightly cooler late tonight and Tuesday.

Missouri—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; not so warm in north portion tonight and east portion Tuesday.

Illinois—Generally fair weather, except probably local showers in north portion late tonight or Tuesday; cooler in north and central portion.

EATS A 15-POUND FISH WITH THE "TRIMMINGS"

Brooklyn Man Consumes Potatoes, Peppers, Tomatoes, Bread and Butter, and 6 Bottles of Beer.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Joy swelled the heart of Christian Sanders of Brooklyn while the following swelled his waistband by way of a little late supper:

One bluefish, weight 15 pounds; boiled potatoes, six; fresh green peppers, eight; fresh tomatoes, 11; bread, one loaf; butter, half pound; beer, six bottles.

It didn't cost him a cent, but it cost John Edwards, owner of a Brooklyn saloon, all the food and $25 besides. For Sanders had earlier in the evening been saying the while that swelled Jonathan had a babe's appetite compared to his, and a bet was arranged.

Sanders ate the fish to the last shred, with the potatoes and much bread and butter. Then the green peppers, tomatoes and six bottles of beer were consumed, the time being 11:23 a. m.

MOTORCYCLE POLICEMAN
NOW RIDES SHANKS' MARE

His Rubber-Tired Steed Lies Down and Dies After Running Into an Auto.

Patrolman Stokes, Belleville's only motorcycle policeman, will ride Shanks' mare for a week or two while Shanks' of gasolinology are dissecting his rubber-tired steed to find out what killed it.

The motor cycle lay down and died Sunday night after it had collided with John Jacobs' touring car on South Charles street. The automobile swung around a corner just as Stokes sped over the crossing in pursuit of a speeder.

Stokes was thrown from the motor cycle but escaped with slight bruises.

BERLIN, June 30.—Emperor William today announced his approval of his appointment of Justice James W. McRea of the New York Supreme Court as United States Ambassador to the German court.

3—Big News Beats—3

YOU who read the Post-Dispatch every day know that its motto: "First in Everything" is not an idle boast, and you were particularly impressed with this truth during the past two weeks.

No. 1—EAST ST. LOUIS BRIBE TAKER CONFESSES.

ON June 19, you will recall, the Post-Dispatch began a series of exclusive articles exposing graft and irregularities of East St. Louis officials, each one a startling showing of corruption, and leading up to the sworn confession of Councilman Joseph A. Fansler that he and other Councilmen accepted bribes for the passage of East St. Louis & Interurban Railway and Alton & Southwestern Railway franchises, which was published June 27.

No. 2—FRISCO STOCK BOOK
SECRETS REVEALED.

ON last Tuesday, June 24, the Post-Dispatch was able to present exclusively the stock book secrets of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railway, showing a loss to stockholders in St. Louis of $2,000,000, and to stockholders outside St. Louis of $10,000,000. The facts obtained from the stock books by a reporter for the Post-Dispatch, who became a stockholder, also showed that Director E. V. R. Thayer of Boston sold 25,000 shares on March 13, and that Chairman of the Board of Directors Yokum owns only 218 shares of common stock.

No. 3—LOBBYIST MULHALL
CLOSES MANIPULATION OF CONGRESS.

ON the heels of these remarkable revelations the Sunday Post-Dispatch yesterday began the exclusive publication in St. Louis of Col. Martin M. Mulhall's confession of ten years' lobbying and strike breaking for the National Manufacturers Association. This confession, backed by 20,000 letters, telegrams, checks and payrolls, discloses the most wonderful system of bribery and corruption involving Congressmen and others of the National Government.

If you read the Post-Dispatch you read the news.

POSTOFFICE CLERK
CONFESSES TAKING
MONEY FROM MAILArthur J. Moss Says That He Stole Remittances Because "It Looked So Easy."

LETTERS FOUND ON HIM

Two Had Been Opened and Others Unopened—He Is Caught by Decoy Letters.

A warrant charging Arthur J. Moss, 22 years of age, a probationary distributing clerk in the main postoffice at Eighth and Walnut streets, with extracting money from the United States mail, was issued Monday morning.

Moss was arrested at 11 p. m. Saturday and lodged in the holdover. A Deputy United States Marshal, who made the arrest, allowed Moss to give the name of George Baker so that the prisoner's aged mother would not know of his arrest until he had got into communication with friends and was advised how to act.

Postoffice Inspectors Bensen, Reuter and Wayne have had Moss under surveillance for two months. Suspicion had been aroused that money was being taken by clerks in the local postoffice on account of numerous complaints received by the postal authorities from time payment houses, lodges, labor unions and jewelers that money supposed to be sent to them in the mail had not been received.

Letters Found on Him.
Saturday night when the inspectors arrested Moss while he was at work in the postoffice, they found in his hand two opened letters, both addressed to time payment furniture houses. Three other special delivery letters and one addressed to a furniture company were found unopened in his pockets.

On his person at the time of his arrest was found $15.85 that he had taken from letters and a $5 bill which he said he had extracted from a special delivery letter sent from New York to some woman residing on a 6500 block west in St. Louis. He could not recall the name of the street.

He offers No Excuse.
Moss confessed that he had been paid for the last six weeks. He said that on account of the colored stationery usually used by furniture and credit houses for remittances, he was able to spot this character of mail when it came to his hand.

He would then shake it and if he discovered money in the envelope would put the letter in his pocket. Three test letters that were placed in his piles for distribution by the inspectors were opened by him.

Moss said that he had no special reason for taking the money, but that it seemed so easy he could not resist the temptation. He is unmarried and lives with his mother at 1309A Montgomery street.

Moss has been in the mail service since 1910. He was getting $50 a month and was to be raised to $800 a year on July 1.

Louis Otto's Temperature Rises to 110 After He Reaches City Hospital.

Louis Otto, 32 years old, a butcher of 1418 North Ninth street, died at 2:35 a. m. Monday at the city hospital from the effects of sunstroke Sunday at a picnic in St. Louis County.

Otto, who was taken to the hospital in the evening, told the physicians that he had eaten sausage and drunk a large quantity of beer at the picnic. When Otto first entered the hospital his temperature was 105. Shortly afterward it rose to 110. He was packed in ice, but the physicians were not able to reduce the temperature effectively.

John Pierce, a horsehoer about 35 years old, died suddenly at noon in the United Railways shops at Leonard avenue and Lucas avenue, where he was employed, physician who was called said that the heat probably caused his death. He died before the physician reached him. The police did not obtain his address.

Shuman Kudie of 1047 Geyer avenue, a worker in the employ of the American Car Works, at the foot of St. George street, was overhauled about noon while at work. He was taken to the city hospital where the physicians say he is in a serious condition.

Louis Ellbrecht, 33 years old, of 4514 Tennessee avenue, was overcome by heat in the afternoon while driving a wagon at Jefferson avenue and Carr street. He fell from the wagon.

Physicians at the city hospital said that his condition is serious.

Man Standing Ready to Alight When He Is Injured at Page and Semple.

George O'Meara, a chauffeur employed by H. M. Plager of 30 Kingsbury place, was swept from the steps of a Page car when he collided with a trolley pole at Semple avenue and Page boulevard early Monday. He was taken to the Mayfield Sanitarium, where it was found he had a fractured rib, broken ankle, cut over the right eye and contusions on the right arm.

The car on which O'Meara was riding was running east in the westbound tracks because repair work was being done. He was on the lower step of the platform getting ready to alight when his body struck the iron pole between the two sets of track and he was jerked from the car.

MACON, Mo., June 30.—John W. Nisbeth of Bevier, Mo., prominent merchant and former Councilman, was arrested and brought here in connection with the death of Marie Drinkard, a girl who had been employed by him two years as a stenographer and bookkeeper.

It was alleged that Miss Drinkard, who died Saturday morning, came to her death from drugs given to her by Nisbeth, with criminal intent. Nisbeth was released on a bond of $3000 for his preliminary hearing here Wednesday.

The Drinkard girl was well known in Bevier as a choir singer. Nisbeth and she were members of the same church. Nisbeth says he is innocent and intimates his arrest was caused by enemies he made in conducting a fight for local option. He is married and has two children. He is 40 years old.

Herbert Hanson, 15 years old, of Webster Groves, a caddy at the Algonquin Golf Club, was shot by a farmer Sunday afternoon when he and other boys were after apples in the farmer's orchard. He was liberally sprinkled on both thighs by the birdshot.

Dr. C. L. Armstrong, who attended the boy, said his injuries are not serious beyond the usual danger of infection. The shot was to the fine, the doctor said, that he was able to remove only a few of them.

O. T. Fuller, who has a small orchard north of the Algonquin links, told a Post-Dispatch reporter over the telephone that he did the shooting. He said he did not wish to hurt the boy seriously, but he wished to teach him and other boys to stay out of the orchard.

He said that for six years apples from the club had been stolen and carried broken down fences and damaged trees. He had told them often, he said, they could have any apples they found on the ground, but they must stay out of the trees.

Moss said he saw five boys in the orchard and ordered them away. They went, but returned in 15 minutes. They had broken a limb and were picking fruit from it, he said, when he discharged his shotgun at one of them.

SLAIN MAN, SISTER HE DEFENDED,
AND BROTHER-IN-LAW SLAYERMRS. JAMES T. DAVIS.
LEROY GROSS...BROTHERS ACCUSED IN FAMILY KILLING
BOTH ARE CAUGHT

John and James Davis Trapped at Twelfth and Market After Telephoning.

James Thomas Davis, who stabbed his brother-in-law, Leroy Gross, to death Sunday evening, and his brother, John Davis, who accused of having led Gross, while the fatal wound was inflicted, were arrested at Twelfth and Market streets at noon Monday.

A man whose name the police have not made known overheard the two telephoning to a friend to meet them at that corner at noon, and followed them. The policeman called the brothers. Both said they had been in East St. Louis most of the time since the killing.

The killing of Gross, in front of his home at 1031 South Eleventh street, was witnessed by a family gathering which included Gross' wife, parents, brother and two sisters.

James T. Davis told the police, after his arrest, that he and his wife, had quarreled, and that she ran out and pulled at his coat as he passed her parents' home Sunday evening. He declared that Leroy Gross struck John Davis with a club, then threatened to strike him, and that he defended himself by using his knife. The Davis brothers ran away, and Gross died a few minutes later.

Gross' relatives, including the wives of the accused men, say the killing was unprovoked, and Mrs. James Davis says it followed a drunken basement orgy which had lasted all day Sunday.

Gross' two sisters are the wives of the Davis brothers, the double wedding having taken place two years ago. Mrs. John Davis, formerly Pearl Gross, expects to become a mother soon.

The married sisters, their parents, a brother, Clyde Gross, and Mrs. Leroy Gross, were sitting on the stone steps when James and John Davis walked up about 7:30 p. m. Leroy Gross, whose foot recently was crushed by a cake of ice, sat inside the house.

James T. Davis, the others declare, stepped up to his wife, struck her and then pushed her into the arms of her father, William Gross. Leroy Gross, from the window, saw the blow struck and hobbled out on "his crutch."

James T. Davis, the others declare, dropped his crutch on the steps and advanced on his injured foot.

The witnesses say James Davis struck Gross and then drew a knife. John Davis rushed from behind, holding his arms, the witnesses say, and while he was thus pinioned, James Davis stabbed him.

The police, however, let him remain in the car.

WAITS MONTH, GETS FARM

Man Stays in Line, Despite Rain, for $14,000 Prize.

MOORE JAW, Sask., June 30.—H. Johnson, formerly of Itasca County, Minn., obtained a $14,000 farm after waiting in front of the land office here since May 31. In his wait torrential rains fell, but Johnson retained his place and his smile. Johnson almost lost his prize in the last hour by going into the land office too soon and finding another man in his place when he returned.

The police, however, let him remain in the car.

Lobby Room in Capitol Used by Mulhall—
Earthhold "All Right All the Time."

NEW YORK, June 30.—Developments have followed thick and fast throughout the nation as a result of the New York World's expose of the lobby and political and strike-breaking undertakings of the agents of the National Association of Manufacturers which appeared in the Post-Dispatch Sunday morning.

A searching investigation of the so-called "underground system" at the Capitol, not only by the Senate Lobby Committee, but by a select committee of the House also, promises to be the first result of the charges by Martin M. Mulhall, who claims to have been the general field "lobbyist" for the National Association of Manufacturers.

Mulhall's startling allegations that Representatives, Senators and high officials in the Government had been "treached" or "influenced," that the "lobby" conducted its operations from a room in the Capitol, paid money to employes there, took an active hand in making up committees and went out actively in the political campaigns to defeat Congressmen who opposed legislation the "lobby" wanted, have thrown congressional circles into an uproar.

Senator Overman, chairman of the investigating committee, announced at Washington he had not only subpoenaed James A. Emery, the chief lobbyist and general counsel of the N. A. M., and former Congressman Watson, as well as all other persons in or out of Congress who are involved by the personal statements of Col. Mulhall and the correspondence which is to be made public by the World from day to day.

Senator Overman has asked the privilege of scrutinizing the thousands of letters, telegrams and reports turned over to the New York World by Col. Mulhall as the basis for the investigation which probably will begin next week. The World has granted his request.

Inquiry Covering 10 Years.
He believes that when his process servers got through they will have agreed a draught to bring in material for an investigation covering the last 10 years at the Capitol. If there is any doubt of the authority of the Senate Committee to investigate that far, Chairman Overman intends to have the Senate extend its powers.

Members of the House of Representatives in Washington announced their purpose to present a resolution when the House convenes Wednesday providing for an immediate investigation of the charges contained in Col. Mulhall's personal narrative.

The World today presents correspondence dealing solely with the work of the lobby and its operation at Washington. These can be traced from the practical beginning in 1904 to the summer of 1912. The careful reading of these letters in the light of their bearing on the lobby and on the political event which they tally, will reveal almost as clearly as any personal narrative in manner in which the lobby has been organized. Now it has been developed and operated on the floors of Congress and elsewhere among the employes of the United States.

Everyone concerned in these operations was at all times caught up in the lobby and on the political event which they tally, will reveal almost as clearly as any personal narrative in manner in which the lobby has been organized. Now it has been developed and operated on the floors of Congress and elsewhere among the employes of the United States.

Therefore, despite the fact that the world holds thousands of letters and telegrams relating to these activities, it has been a matter of the most careful searching to find in that mass of documentary evidence the necessary tell-tale admissions which follow and which clearly prove the circumstantial truth of the statements which Col. Mulhall makes.

Who's Who in the Lobby Battery of the N. A. M.'s Working Force

For purposes of identification of the personnel of the working force of the N. A. M.'s lobby there is here set down, to begin with, a short characterization of the men who may be conveniently grouped in one classification as the "lobby battery."

Col. M. M. Mulhall, general field agent; salary $5000; expenses, $20,000 a year on the average.

Ex-Congressman James E. Watson of Indiana, for 13 years whip of the House, at times the paid attorney of the N. A. M., always an informal co-conspirator in the working of the lobby, and during the Roosevelt and Taft administrations, the medium of communication with the White House.

Congressman James H. McDermott of Illinois, employed to do the work of which men of the type of Watson and Hemmway would hesitate.

Former Congressman Charles E. Listerfield of Maine, an acknowledged champion of the association during his stay in Congress.

James A. Emery, general counsel of the N. A. M., with office in Washington, who never appeared at the Capitol, whose chief function was that of entertainer and professed lawyer.

George S. Woodhead, 37, 110,000 a year, with an allowance in expenses of $20,000 a year.

J. M. McMichael, secretary of Congressman McDermott from 1904 to the present time, for 13 years chief page of the floor of the House of Representatives, after that doorkeeper of the press gallery of the House, and now in charge of one of the elevators in the House employed to take the papers of the House and as a little spy on the big news Regular salary, $50 a month, to which were made constant and frequent additions from time to time, these additions during an exciting session of Congress amounting frequently to over $1000 a week.

Fred C. Schwedtmann, secretary of the president of the National Association of Manufacturers. All letters from him were practically letters from the office of J. M. Van Cleave. The president himself wrote very few letters. He had a deep aversion to being himself on paper concerning any political activities of his organization.

John Kirby Jr., president National Association of Manufacturers, Dayton, O.

George S. Woodhead, 37, 110,000 a year, with an allowance in expenses of $20,000 a year.

LOBBYIST WHO EXPOSES THE POLITICAL WORK OF THE N. A. M.

Colonel M. M. MULHALL.

been handled exactly as Mr. Van Cleave thinks right. Secretary Schwedman to Mulhall.

A little medicine properly administered in the district (New York) would do him no harm. Mulhall to Secretary Schwedman.

I assured Mr. Emery that if he would select or name some man that I would agree on for the chairman of the Committee on Labor that we could have him appointed. Mulhall to General Manager Bird.

I am strongly impressed with the wisdom of too much letter writing about matters of a confidential nature. President Kirby to Mulhall.

It is possible for our organization to defeat the Eight-hour bill, I think we will have accomplished one of the greatest pieces of work in the history of the organization. General Manager Bird to Mulhall.

"Bulletin Labor News." A delightful insight into the brazenness of the lobby is revealed in a "confidential bulletin of labor news," issued under date of New York, Aug. 20, 1909, and signed "Marshall Cushing." It sets forth the estimate placed by the association on the individual members of the House Committee on Labor, then in charge of the eight-hour labor law. It follows:

"L. Gardner, Atlantic City, N. J.; lawyer; old chairman, author of bill referred to subcommittee of lawyers of last committee to report as to constitutionality; never reported; usual plurality, 10,000 out to 2400 last election owing to unfitted opposition of unions (mostly glass workers), dissatisfied that he did not report and pass his bill, and of business interests, expressed through our committee at home and in Washington, that he introduced and tried to report it."

"E. Bartholdi, St. Louis, Mo., newspaper man; plurality, 20,000; all right all the time."

"A. Vreeland, Salamanca, N. Y. (Chautauque district); banker, plurality 15,000; has always led opposition to bill in committee; absolutely all right."

"J. Madison, Dodge City, Kan., plurality 18,000; has always voted against bill, but assisted (with Townsend Mich.) last session for anti-injunction legislation; Kansas City Employers' Association co-operating."

"S. Allen, Alfred E., Portland district; lawyers, plurality 2273; new member of committee; local record rather friendly to labor; retires at end of this Congress; believed to be all right; local organizations and influences co-operating."

"J. Taylor, Columbus, O., lawyer, plurality 6070; new member; no national record; believed to be all right; local organizations co-operating."

"J. Smith, Bakersfield, Cal.; lawyer, plurality 11,000; new member; no record; strong state organizations co-operating; probably all right."

"J. Hawley, Salem, Ore.; plurality 17,000; professor of economics and law; no record, but probably all right; strong state organizations co-operating."

"Democrats, all lawyers, friendly to eight-hour bill, reapointed; Rainey (Ill.), Hughes (N. J.), Nicholls (Pa.), late vice-president United Mine Workers."

"J. (Ark.) and Covington (Md.), new members; no records, but probably friendly to eight-hour legislation on party grounds."

"The National Association of Manufacturers, office, New York."

"J. E. Miles of Radine, Wis., a director of the National Association of Manufacturers."

"Marshall Cushing, secretary of the National Association of Manufacturers from 1890 to 1907, first organizer of the lobby, in writing his confidential letters to Col. Mulhall, Cushing did not either address or sign them. He sent them typewritten on plain paper. Most of his letters are signed on the typewriter. No signature."

The World prints either in fac simile or in type copy numerous letters from most of the men just enumerated. Here are interesting bits of these letters and of reports that reveal "N. A. M." deals:

You are engaged in a ticklish business, and now if you make a mistake they will run you out of the district. No Sig.

You are certain to be caught and make a mess of it if you do not look out. No Sig.

While I want you generally to account item by item, and from day to day for the expenses of money that is spent, you need not, of course, be too particular how you use it. No Sig.

Many of the directors do not feel just as Mr. Van Cleave and I do about the importance of the political work. They must be taught; they must be convinced. Secretary Schwedman.

Mr. Van Cleave is very much impressed with any action that we can take to teach Gardner a lesson. Secretary Schwedman.

The Colonel's interview with Hitchcock is one of the best things, ever. His bold, and even brazen, manipulation was exactly suited to the weakness of the man. Secretary Schwedman.

Regarding the anti-plotage bill and the prohibition bill. This has Hemenway, Kittredge Haskins of the Second Vermont District, Vice-President Sherman, George W. Southwick, J. Sloan Fassett and several others who have pledged to aid us toward making up this committee."

Asin Mulhall reports a conference with Forsaker of Ohio, who had demanded help in his Ohio fight, that ended in Mulhall being ordered to go to Ohio "and to cover my tracks completely, so that we will not give any offense to the friends of Mr. Charles P. Taft, who is seeking the senatorship in that State also."

Early in 1909 Col. Mulhall was canvassing Congress as to the feeling then towards a Tariff Commission. Eighty two lengthy reports were made to the secretary. An extract from one is illuminating, saying: "I * * * called at the office of Mr. John W. Dwight of the Thirtieth New York District. Mr.

Dwight was outspoken and emphatically against a Tariff Commission bill. "I was compelled to listen to the tirade along these lines and I will close my remarks in relation to this one gentleman by stating that his district is strongly a manufacturing district, and a little medicine properly administered in his district would do no harm; that if you will make the suggestion we will look matters up in that district and see how we can make a convert of this gentleman. Before I left his office he was not so radical."

Representative Watson, who took over the N. A. M.'s work on the floor of the House because the means of the association reaching the ear of the White House. Mulhall reported to Schwedman regarding conference with Watson following Watson's visit to President Roosevelt to discuss legislation, but in reality to ascertain Roosevelt's intentions toward a third term. Roosevelt said he was for Taft, but Mulhall reported: "Mr. Watson says that his interview with the President impressed him as if the President wanted a third term."

Busy on the Senate Side. Mulhall did not content himself with members of the lower House. On Jan. 27, 1911, he reported to his then chief, Mr. Bird, that he had been busy on the Senate side, adding that if they (the N. A. M. chiefs) would agree upon a proper Senator he could have him made chairman of the Committee on Labor and control the Senate Judiciary Committee and its subcommittee. Just after the convening of Congress in 1909-10 Col. Mulhall received the assistance of Watson and Speaker Cannon in preparing a list of Representatives whose presence in Congress seemed to him to be of immaterial interest to the National Association of Manufacturers.

In the report to Secretary Schwedman on March 17, 1909, Col. Mulhall said: "I had a long interview with Mr. Watson this morning and submitted to him for his advice a list of men who are continually opposing us in Congress which I thought it would be a good idea to get into the hands of the leaders of our association so that we could commence early to educate those men to be fair and not such strenuous advocates for labor bills and class legislation. * * * Watson thinks that we ought to start in to make war upon this list at the first opportunity offered. I feel certain

U. P. DISSOLUTION PLAN BREAKS UP TWO MONOPOLIES

Agreement Presented to Court Provides for Exchange by Union Pacific Shares for Pennsylvania's Holdings of B. & O. Stock.

REST TO BE SOLD TO PUBLIC BEFORE 1916.

Government Asks Safeguards to Allow Objections in Future and to Permit Other Action in Case of Change of Law.

By Associated Press.
ST. PAUL, Minn., June 30.—The plan for dissolving the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific Railroad merger, which Attorney-General McKendall, with the approval of President Wilson, agreed upon with officials of the railroad, was presented to the Federal court here today.

Road Opposes Publicity.
Attorney N. H. Loomis, who appeared for the railroad, objected to the suggestion of Attorney-General McKendall that the court direct that the plan be published, that all who may be interested, whether parties to the cause or not, be given opportunity to present any objections which they regard as worthy of consideration.

He also presented to the court the name of the Central Trust Co. of New Jersey to act as trustee in the sale to the public of the $88,000,000 of Southern Pacific stock held by the Union Pacific.

In objecting to the publication of the plan, Loomis maintained that it would only cause further delay.

G. Carroll Todd, who represented the government, declared that in the opinion of the Attorney-General, publication of the plan, as in the case of the American Tobacco Co., would be advisable in order that any objections might be presented to the court by interested parties.

Provisions of the Plan.
The plan allows until Jan. 1, 1916, for the complete dissolution of the combination adjudged illegal by the Supreme Court.

All previous plans are superseded by this latest one, which proposes that the Union Pacific stock exchange $88,000,000 of its 1912-1913 holdings in the Southern Pacific for the Pennsylvania Railroad's entire holdings in the Baltimore & Ohio—virtually an equal amount—and that the remaining $88,000,000 shall be sold to the general public through a trust company.

No present stockholders in the Union Pacific continue as such, but may buy any of the Southern Pacific stock sold and each purchaser would be obliged to make affidavit that he was not acting in concert or agreement with anyone else buying Southern Pacific stock, to obtain a new control for the Union Pacific.

The transaction would begin on Nov. 1, 1913, and if not complete by Jan. 1, 1916, the court would direct the disposition of any Southern Pacific stock remaining untraded.

Any May Object.
The court will be asked before approving the plan to allow time for anyone, whether an interested party or not, to interpose its objections.

The government, expressly stipulates that should any illegal conditions arise from the exchange of Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio stock either under existing law or future legislation, or further interpretation by the courts of present statutes, the government should have the right "freely to rescind" the arrangement.

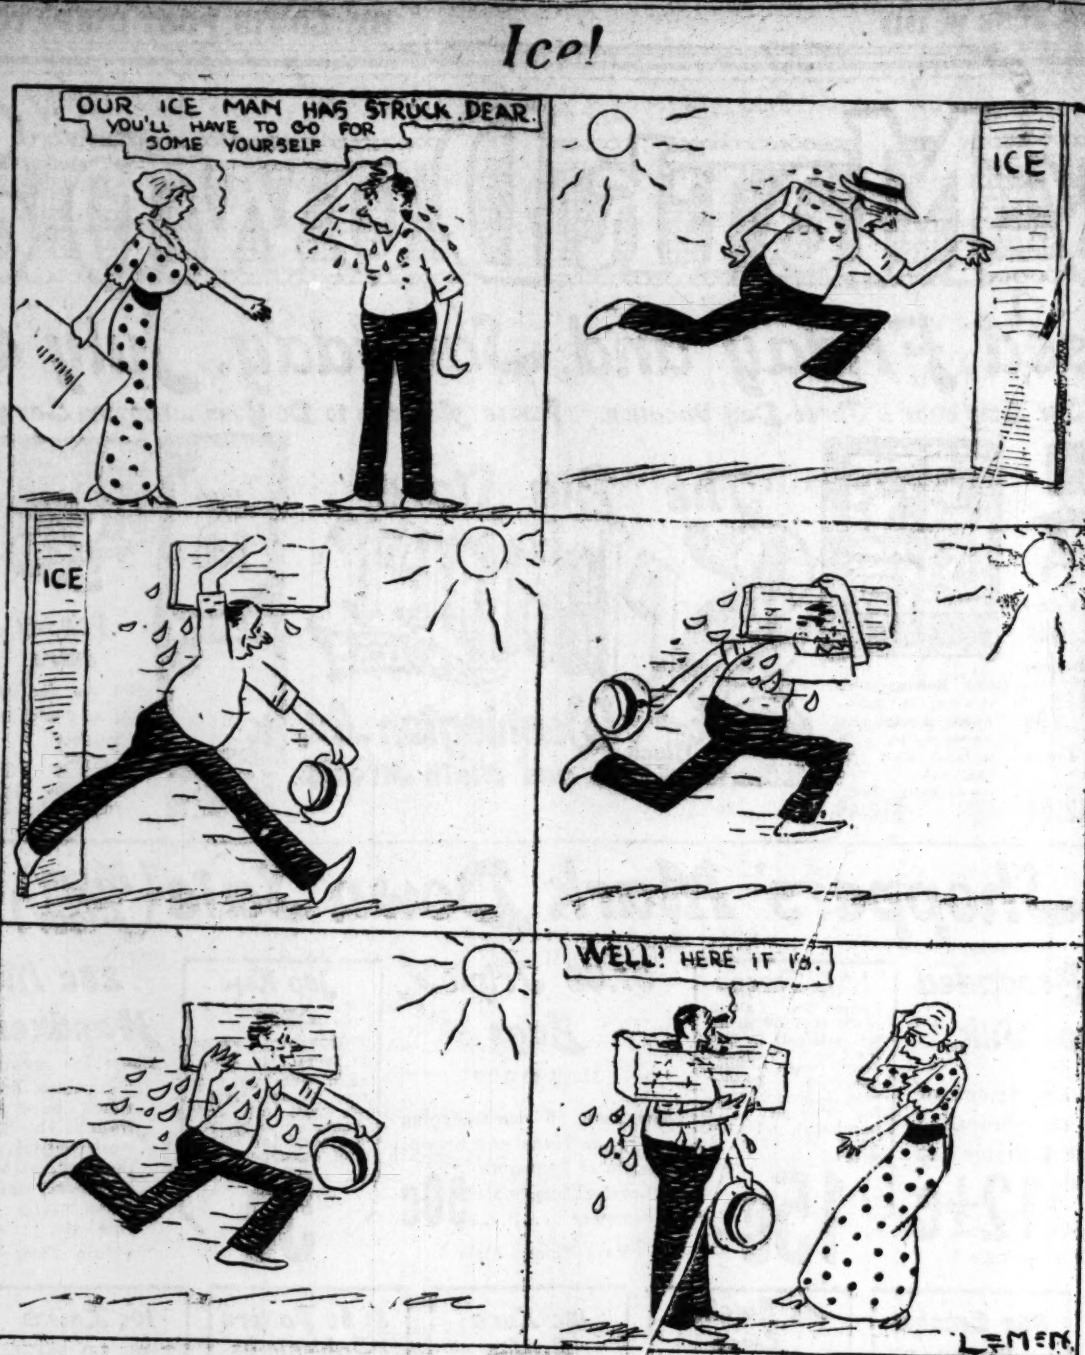

Attorney-General Reynolds' statement to the court, framed after discussion and conferences with President Wilson, comments on the exchange of Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio stock and points out that at present no Federal law forbids one railroad company from owning stock in another non-competitive line, but that by the interpretation by the courts a different meaning may hereafter be given to present statutes or new legislation covering that point may be enacted.

On the other hand, the President and his advisers feel that there is apparently no legal objection now to the proposal of the railroad under what administration officials regard as an imperfect Federal law. The advantage of the plan in the view of the President are that it breaks up two actual or threatened monopolies and at the same time fulfills the purposes of the Government's suit against the Harziman merger. The President and the Attorney-General believe, moreover, that the Federal authorities are left free under the plan to act as they deem right, against any harmful or illegal consequences not now foreseen.

The Attorney-General's statement to the court says:

"The proposed sale to the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. of $88,000,000 of shares (438,292,400) of the capital stock of the Southern Pacific company now owned or controlled by the Union Pacific Railroad Co. (being about 14 per cent of the total capital stock of the Southern Pacific company) in exchange for 438,292,400 shares ($42,547,300) of the capital stock of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. now owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. (being all of such stock held by the latter and 6.94 per cent of the entire share of the Baltimore & Ohio company) obviously goes far to separate the Southern Pacific company from the Union Pacific company and to that extent breaks up the particular unlawful combination between them created in the original bill now before the court for dissolution."

Remains Another Situation.
Moreover, it directs the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. of a large amount of the

SAYS MRS. MILLER GET DRUNK AFTER HUSBAND'S DEATH

Former Friend, Who Was at House for 2 Weeks Asserts Host Was Tipsy Much of Time.

In a deposition filed in the Probate Court Monday, Mrs. Georgiana Miller of 5435 Maple avenue is accused by a former close friend of being drunk half the time for two weeks following the death of her husband in October, 1911. Mrs. Miller's favorite beverage, according to the deposition, was whiskey, which she sometimes drank straight and sometimes in highballs.

MRS. LE BEAUME IS DEAD
Wife of Cotton Belt General Agent Was Philanthropic Worker.

Mrs. Della M. C. Le Beaume, wife of E. W. Le Beaume, general passenger and ticket agent of the St. Louis & Southwestern Railway, died Sunday at her home, 4710 Westminster place, after an illness of almost two years. She had been identified with literary and philanthropic work, and at one time was vice-president of the Wednesday Club. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, and a son.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 10 a. m. at the residence. The services will be conducted by the Rev. E. B. Phillips, pastor of St. Peter's Episcopal Church. Burial will be in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Women Buyers Go to Foreign Fashion Centers.
Miss Brice, buyer for the costume and dress department of Scripps-Vanderbilt-Barney, and Mrs. Nacker, buyer for the mourning shop and for the new department exclusively for evening wraps, which will be opened in the fall, will sail July 2 on the Mauretania to visit the fashion centers of Europe in the interests of their respective departments.

Vandervoort's keeps in instant touch with the foreign markets, thus enabling the women of St. Louis to buy direct from Paris and other leading fashion centers, the newest and most exclusive designs procurable.

Youth Falls Between Cars.
WISTER, Ok., June 30.—Carl Gregory, 15 years old, of Hot Springs, Ark., fell from a Rock Island freight train between two cars and was killed. He was returning home after an absence of five years.

KAISER WINS BILL TO INCREASE HIS ARMY BY 136,000

New Measure, Passed by a Compromise, Places Standing Force at 870,000 Men.

BERLIN, June 30.—The German Government today secured from the Imperial Parliament the entire army increase it had demanded, including the six new cavalry regiments. Imperial Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg purchased this consent from the House by his acceptance of a proposal to reform the military code of justice, introduced by the Socialists on Saturday in consequence of the severe sentences pronounced by a court martial at Erfurt on Friday. Five reservists were then condemned to five years' imprisonment, another to one year and a seventh to six months for participating in a dispute in a saloon and fighting with policemen after the annual muster of the reserves.

Only the Socialists, the Poles and the Alsatians in Parliament voted against the final reading of the armament bill, which increases the peace strength of the German army by approximately 400,000 men, 15,000 non-commissioned officers and 117,000 privates, bringing the total of the permanent force up to nearly 870,000 men.

The third feature of the exciting closing sitting of the Imperial Parliament before adjournment was the vote on a clause in one of the bills for raising the necessary money to cover the new military expenditure, expressly declared that this was a voluntary act. Later on it issued an ultimatum declaring that any legislation covering this point would be rejected as unconstitutional. The House, however, in passing the bill, made the taxation of the Princes obligatory.

RIDING ASTRIDE BARRED
Royal Order Protects Streets Where Princess Mary Rides.

LONDON, June 30.—Objection of King George and Queen Mary to women riding astride, which was made known during the international horse show at Olympia, has gone a step further. A royal order was issued that women who ride in Rotten Row and Hyde Park in the mornings must use the side saddle.

The reason given in court circles is that Princess Mary rides in the morning in Rotten Row and Queen Mary, who believes riding astride is immodest and mannish, does not wish her daughter to be contaminated by the sight of others riding astride.

Confess Preacher and Flock.
FOND DU LAC, Wis., June 30.—Following a suggestion of the pastor more than 80 per cent of the men went coastless to the First Baptist Church and the women all left their hats at home. The minister, the Rev. P. G. Vanzandt, preached in his shirt sleeves.

E. ST. LOUIS BOOKS SHOW MONEY PAID; CREDITOR DENIES IT

Lighting Company Sues for $35,000 Saying It Hasn't Been Paid.

BOOKKEEPING AMAZES

Books Show $7739 as Expended, but Account Has Not Been Settled.

Suits filed by three public service corporations of East St. Louis against the City of East St. Louis in the Circuit Court at Belleville Monday, reveal an amazing tangle in the bookkeeping methods of the city, additional facts being shown to those already published by the Post-Dispatch in the last 10 days.

The books, according to Deputy Comptroller Kimball, show $7739.44 has been paid out, which has not been paid, and that $7739.44, which the books do not show has been paid, has been paid.

No explanation was offered at the Comptroller's office for this strange bookkeeping entries.

Sues for $85,000.
The East St. Louis Light and Power Co. filed a suit asking judgment for $85,000 from the city for street lighting service from Sept. 1, 1912, until June 1, 1913, alleging that it had not received payment for service furnished in that time.

The book kept by Comptroller Rodenberger to show all expenditures from the city for other than special fund appropriations, shows that the September and October, 1912, accounts for street lighting, amounting to $7739.44, has been paid. The books do not show a payment for November and December.

Kimball filed a Post-Dispatch reporter after the filing of the suit that the September and October bill had not been paid, and that the November and December account, amounting to $7739.44, had been paid. He said the Council appropriated money to pay this account in February, and that the company had received its money.

At the Comptroller's office the information also was given that the January account of $880.15, the February and March account of $741.53, and the April and May accounts, of which the office had no record, had not been paid. Kimball said the city now owes for street lighting for the months of May, September and October, 1912, and for January, February, March, April and May, 1913. According to the figures furnished by him, this would amount to $13,350.17, excluding two months, which, if the average cost for the months of May, September and October, 1912, and for January, February, March, April and May, 1913, is taken into account, would amount to $14,000 and $800 less than the amount sued for.

J. A. Farmer of the Belleville law firm of Barthel, Farmer & Klingel, which filed the suit, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the East St. Louis Light and Power Co. had not been paid for any service given since Sept. 1, and that the city owed the amount sued for.

"I do not know what the books of East St. Louis show," said Farmer, "or where the money has gone, but I know the company has not received it."

The City Water Co. of East St. Louis and Granite City also filed suit at the same time, for $30,000, alleging it had not been paid for hydrant rentals and water for street sprinkling since Nov. 1, 1912. It asked judgment for its accounts to June 1.

The St. Clair County Gas and Electric Co. sued for $240.08, alleged to be due for gas furnished for lighting in public buildings.

English Court Says Exemption Clause in Ticket Is Illegal.

LONDON, June 30.—The condition printed on the steamship tickets issued by the White Star Line exempting that company from liability for loss by a passenger, even through negligence of the company's servants, is illegal, according to a judgment pronounced today by Sir Clement M. Dillhorne, Justice of the King's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice.

The point had been held over for decision from the last case decided last week in which an Irish farmer, Thomas Ryan, was awarded $500 and costs against the White Star Line for the loss of his son in the Titanic disaster.

MULHALL'S STORY STIRS THE CAPITAL; DENIALS ARE MADE

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—The exposure of the secrets of the powerful lobby of the National Association of Manufacturers stirred official Washington as it has not been stirred before in years. Congressmen and other men high in political circles say that the lobby investigation started by President Wilson's statement to newspaper correspondents concerning an "insidious lobby" has hardly begun.

Representative Swager Sherry of Kentucky said: "I do not know Mulhall and the statement that I was ever influenced by the National Association of Manufacturers or by anybody else is absolutely untrue."

Sherry added that he would make a statement on the floor of the House.

Representative Richard Bartholdt of St. Louis said: "I have been on the Committee on Labor for twelve or fourteen years and during that time I have insisted on being independent. In that length of time I do not remember that I ever had an improper proposition laid before me."

Congressman James T. McDermott, while making a general denial of the statements of Col. Mulhall, admitted that he had signed the latter's name to a check for $300 given to McDermott's campaign by Harold F. McCormick.

McCormick also admitted the circumstances narrated by Mulhall. "As nearly as I can remember, the published statements of Col. Mulhall are substantially correct," said he.

McCormick's denial, however, while making a general denial of the statements of Col. Mulhall, admitted that he had signed the latter's name to a check for $300 given to McDermott's campaign by Harold F. McCormick.

McCormick also admitted the circumstances narrated by Mulhall. "As nearly as I can remember, the published statements of Col. Mulhall are substantially correct," said he.

"I never in the employ of the lobby of the National Association of Manufacturers," Mulhall said, "was ever a champion of labor, as my votes in the House on labor questions will show."

"Mulhall told me in 1912 he was not in the employ of the association. He got a personal check from Harold F. McCormick for $250, given to him for campaign expenses, after trying for two or three days to get a fund together. Finally he said to me: 'I can do you no good' and he left for the East, presumably for Baltimore. He told me the check would come to the Sherman House. He told me to endorse his name and get the money."

"No check came. I called Mr. McCormick's office and informed them of the circumstances; they made out a duplicate, which I got."

"I endorsed it with Mulhall's name with his authority. The bank was then ordered to cancel the original. Mulhall called the original in Baltimore and when the duplicate was cashed, Mulhall called me up and told me what had happened."

"The bank called on Mulhall to return the money, but he refused. As I felt a moral obligation to McCormick for his kindness, I told Mr. Estes that I felt responsible and paid him back the $250, not caring for McCormick to know of Mulhall's peculiar actions in the transaction."

"When the check came out to Mulhall, Mr. McCormick gave the contribution as a personal favor."

"Well, Mulhall said he would raise the fund, so I told Mr. Mulhall, but in the meantime he left the city and from what happened afterward I presumed he took the check with him, although he told me he did not receive it."

Fought Champ Clark.

"There were a hundred evidences of a conspiracy to defeat me in the 1908 and 1910 campaigns," said Speaker Clark this morning. "I could not say that the National Manufacturers' Association contributed money to fight me or that any agent of theirs appeared above the surface in the district. But that had been singled out for attack and that money was poured into the Ninth District for those years was very apparent."

Emery, chief of the N. A. M. lobby in Washington, issued a long statement, denouncing Col. Mulhall's charges as "malicious form of falsehood—that which fabricates a tissue of lies on a slight foundation of truth." Concerning Col. Mulhall he said: "Falling in black mail he resorted to slander."

Father of 12 Children Dies.

The funeral of Frank K. Bins, 55 years old, father of 12 children, one of the first to be complimented by former President Roosevelt because of the size of his family, will be held Tuesday at 8:30 a. m. from St. Agatha's Church to St. Peter and Paul's Cemetery. He died Saturday at his home, 2003 Chippewa street, from a complication of diseases. He was president of the Bins Hide and Tannery Co.

FACSIMILE OF KIRBY LETTER IN PRAISE OF COLONEL MULHALL

National Association of Manufacturers
Special Agent in Charge, New York
John Kirby, President
Chicago, Ill.
To Whom It May Concern:

June 20, 1910.

The purpose of this letter is to introduce to the members of the National Association of Manufacturers, Colonel H. M. Mulhall, who is and has been for the past seven or eight years connected with the Association in a confidential capacity. He has acted with and for many leading men in national politics in a similar capacity, besides having a wide range of acquaintance with leading state politicians. His field work for the Association is principally devoted to the interest of representatives who are blacklisted because of their refusal to do the bidding of labor agitators in legislative matters and to assist in procuring the proper reward to such men for their patriotism and devotion to duty that they may not suffer by reason thereof. Colonel Mulhall's record is clear. His fidelity, integrity and loyalty have never been questioned to my knowledge. You can speak with him in strict confidence and be assured that his mission to you relates to matters that concern not only your own interest, but the general business interests of the country. I bespeak for him your co-operation in the important work in which he is engaged.

Very respectfully,

Mulhall Secret Room in Capital Hard to Watch

that if we could take up the four most prominent on this list we could beat them and keep a continual war upon the others by starting up the manufacturers in their districts, the railroad interests and in that way we would be very soon able to convince those men that they were not going to the House of Representatives to fight the manufacturing interests."

Relations With Page.

But the Senate was not so high that Mulhall could not go lower. He reveals today his relations with J. H. Michael, one time chief page, secretary to Congressman McDermott, and later a doorman in the House.

The World has in its possession some of the reports made to Col. Mulhall by Michael. They were on letterheads of the "House of Representatives," "Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives," "Congressman James T. McDermott," "Press Gallery of the House of Representatives," and "The Hotel Sherman." These notes record the status of bills of interest to the N. A. M.; as to "whether they were likely to come out of committee, and when, and especially they inform Col. Mulhall of the various shifting tactics employed by the lobbyist for representatives and the representatives who were the "friends" of the manufacturers.

Out of this large number of Michael's notes one can be chosen for quotation to indicate the meaning of the espionage. One early day in May, 1910, Michael wrote: "The sundry civil bill now before the House on page 116, at the end of bill on page 134. I will look after the end of keeping the other side away."

Not Signed to Defeat Bill.

This is neither signed nor addressed nor dated, but is on the letterhead of the House of Representatives. It referred cryptically to a scheme fathered by the lobbyists of the N. A. M. to defeat the sundry civil bill. The scheme was to keep up a persistent and protracted debate on the reading of the bill and to thus induce as many Democrats as possible to remain from the House with the idea that the bill would not come to a vote until it had been entirely read and debated upon. At the same time it was agreed that when the reading reached page 134 that a vote would be called for and that then, while the Democrats were innocently absent, the Republicans would be hastily convened, the vote called and the measure defeated. INCIDENTALLY, IT IS INTERESTING TO NOTE THAT THESE TACTICS WERE SUCCESSFUL. THE BILL WAS DEFEATED IN EXACTLY THE MANNER OUTLINED IN MICHAEL'S NOTE.

The closing feature in today's budget is really the most delightful of the series thus far. It tells of obtaining a committee room in the national Capitol for the exclusive use of Col. Mulhall and his lobby, where secret conferences with members of Congress and with his lobby aids could be held without the publicity of a hotel. Its advantages are thus described by Mulhall in a report to his chief, Mr. Bird:

"There are three entrances to this office, and it is impossible for it to be closely watched. If any attempt was made to watch it we have means of finding out in a very brief period of time, and, besides, there are no other committee rooms on this floor and it is almost exclusive and I have used the greatest caution since I have had this privilege extended to me not to be seen entering this room when there was anyone in the corridor in which this office is located."

"Another convenience we have in this room is that we can use the telephones of this office with the greatest secrecy and get in touch with any Senator or member without any listeners. * * * This room was the one used by former Vice-President Sherman when he was a member of Congress."

The Post-Dispatch will publish tomorrow Col. Mulhall's story of how he worked for the election of Congressmen faithful to the manufacturers in their campaigns for reelection. The article will include the text of many reports and letters.

Post-Dispatch is Surprised That Statement is Printed.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 30.—After reading the narrative of Col. M. M. Mulhall, Prof. William Howard Taft, ex-President of the United States, said: "I am out of politics. I cannot recall that I have ever met Col. Mulhall, and I am surprised that the New York World should print such a statement as this. I will not, of course, be drawn into a discussion of the subject. I am leaving for Canada for my vacation and while there I will not have time to give Col. Mulhall or politics a thought."

Prof. Taft refused to comment on the charges made by Col. Mulhall that agents of the National Association of Manufacturers had influenced him to favor a tariff commission and to oppose legislation favorable to labor unions. The former President could not recall the visit of Col. Mulhall and J. Phillips Bird to his summer cottage in Beverly, Mass., in 1910.

SAYS WORLD PAID $10,000 FOR THE MULHALL STORY

NEW YORK, June 30.—Richard Barry, a well-known playwright and author, insists that Col. Mulhall received $10,000 from the New York World for the statement and then failed to pay over half the price to Barry, who made the sale.

Last Wednesday Barry sued the Col. in the Supreme Court, alleging that Col. Mulhall had violated an agreement. Barry, through his counsel, alleged that Mulhall came to his home last May and asked him to undertake to sell a "series of political letters which Mulhall owned." Barry agreed to undertake the negotiations. He was successful, he says, in selling the documents to the Press Publishing Co. (the New York World) for $10,000.

Barry contended that his agreement with Col. Mulhall was that they were to share equally in the price received for the documents, but that the Colonel refused to share.

Richard Barry was with the Russian Army at the siege of Port Arthur. He has written several books and plays. More than a year ago he was expelled from the Players' Club for writing a magazine article in which he said that "very few persons on the stage knew how to think." He sued for reinstatement and the Court of Appeals found for him. Then he formally resigned from the club.

HOW THIS WOMAN FOUND HEALTH

Would Not Give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for All Rest of Medicine in the World.

"I suffered everything from female ailments after my baby came. I had numb spells and was dizzy, had black spots before my eyes, my back ached and I was so weak I could hardly stand up. My face was yellow, even my finger-nails were colorless. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am stout, well and healthy. I can do all my own work and go to town and back and not get tired. I would not give you Vegetable Compound for all the rest of the medicines in the world. I tried doctors' medicines and they did me no good."—MRS. MARY EARLE-WINE, R. F. D. No. 3, Utica, Ohio.

Another Case.

Nebo, Ill.—I was bothered for 10 years with female troubles and the doctors did not help me. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and at times had to spend a few days in bed. I read so many letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound curing female troubles that I got a bottle of it. It did me more good than anything else I ever took and now it has cured me. I feel better than I have for years and tell everybody what the Compound has done for me. I believe I would not be living today but for that."—MRS. HETIE GREENSTREET, Nebo, Ill.

There'll Be a Joyous Parade to This Great Shirt Sale

Which Should Hold Interest for Every Man in St. Louis—A Sale Which the Citizens of the City's Suburbs and Towns Within a Radius of 25 Miles Can Well Afford to Attend, and With Profit

This July Shirt Sale is the most carefully-planned event of the entire sale calendar of the Men's Store.

As long ago as last February preparations first began, for in addition to having last year's record, which seemed mountain high and which must be outdistanced—the prestige of the sale must be upheld—the event must be such one as to make a lasting impression on the mind of every man who attends.

Not a stone was left unturned.

In the effort to make the event a long-to-be-remembered one, we called for and received the

Hearty Co-operation of Seven Different Makers

There was keen rivalry among them all—our only instructions were, that the Shirts were to represent the most wonderful values we had ever offered in any similar sale—and the result is this magnificent collection which offers at

$1 Choice of 8750 Summer Shirts—The Very Kinds Which Scores of St. Louis Stores at This Very Time Are Pricing at $1.50, $2, $2.50 and Even $3.50!

Though the Shirts gathered for this event represent samples, surplus stocks and cancellations, practically every single garment is crisp, fresh and new—in good condition (else manufacturers would not have allowed their names thereon) and fully up to the standard which we always endeavor to maintain in our regular stocks.

There is such a wealth of materials, we don't believe one is missing. There are shirts of

THIRTY DAYS FOR INSURANCE ANSWER GRANTED BY COURT

Companies, Demurrer Overruled, Now to Contest Action For Bidding Withdrawal From State.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, June 30.—Thirty days was granted to fire insurance companies by the Supreme Court in which to prepare and file an answer to Attorney-General Barker's proceedings to compel them to resume business in Missouri and to fine them for suspending business.

The Supreme Court Saturday overruled the companies' demurrer and issued a temporary injunction against them, to prevent the cancellation of insurance contracts.

The Court probably before its adjournment will appoint a commissioner to take testimony, his report to be made at the October term of the Supreme Court.

The 120 fire insurance companies cited by Insurance Supertendent Revells to show cause by July 1 why they still are refusing to do business under their charters, or accept the alternatives of having their licenses revoked, filed returns today through their attorneys, Frederick W. Lehmann and F. N. Judson, in which they deny they have violated any law of the State and any terms of their agreement with the State.

The return states that under existing circumstances the companies do not intend to resume the writing of fire insurance in this State. They contend they re-rated the State under the provisions of the Oliver law at a cost of $250,000, and that since the last Legislature repealed the Oliver act, they cannot now use these rates on account of the prohibition contained in the Oliver law.

BOY SCOUTS TO GO TO WISCONSIN ON BICYCLES

Scout Master C. Z. Blayney, in charge of the boys' work at West Presbyterian Church, and five Boy Scouts, start at 4 p. m. Monday on a bicycle trip to Lake Geneva, Wis. They expect to ride 40 or 50 miles a day, and think the trip probably will require about 10 days.

The boys will spend two weeks at Lake Geneva before starting on the return trip. Blayney said Monday that they would not ride during the afternoons.

The boys in the party are Charles Bernhardt, Clarence Fleming, Theodore Miller, Donald White and Frank Beck.

GIRL WHO ELOPED AFTER MOCK MARRIAGE

MRS. JOHN ALLGEYER.

OLD FRIENDS IN MOCK MARRIAGE, THEN THEY ELOPE

Schoolboy Companions of Ten Years Ago Meet on Steamer Outing.

Mr. and Mrs. John Allgeyer, who made a mock marriage real by eloping to Springfield, Ill., last Tuesday and having a minister marry them, were surprised Friday evening by about 100 of their friends who called at the home of the young couple, 3809 Maffitt avenue, with congratulations. The guests brought a "shower" of 40 decorated beer steins for the plate rail in the dining room, cut glass pitchers, vases and other wedding gifts.

The wedding, which became generally known to the friends only Friday, was the climax of an interrupted romance of 10 years ago. Miss Lucille Alexander, 25 years old, lived at 3235 Junata street until she became Mrs. Allgeyer. Her husband, who is 28, is superintendent of water distribution in the city water department.

Met at School in 1903. In 1903 Miss Alexander was a student in the Randolph-Macon Institute at Danville, Va. Allgeyer was a cadet in the Danville Military Academy. His navy uniform and military bearing appealed to "Miss Sweet Sixteen" of the girls' school, and the pair became sweethearts. After they finished school the romance lapsed for years. They drifted apart.

Sunday, June 1, Miss Alexander went with a party of friends on an excursion up the Illinois river on board the steamer Belle of the Bends. A handsome young man who looked lonesome was sauntering about the deck. Miss Alexander called to him. It was Cadet Allgeyer that was Supt. Allgeyer that is. Of course, they were delighted to see each other. Allgeyer was invited to join the group of Miss Alexander's friends.

Somebody suggested that there be a mock marriage and as Allgeyer and Miss Alexander were the only unmarried ones they were selected. M. W. Coulter folded some Sunday newspapers to represent the Bible. He pronounced them man and wife—just in fun, of course—and the "bride" distributed to the spectators a big bouquet of flowers which had been presented to her for the occasion. She was "given away" by Eugene Martin. Elmer L. Moore, Republican City Central Committee member for the Twentieth Ward, was best man. Mrs. Edward Berlinger was bridesmaid.

"Why don't you make it a real wedding," John suggested. Moore. John thought it over. He called upon Miss Alexander frequently after the mock marriage. Though living in the same city, each had not known of the other's presence.

Married by Dr. Grace Jolly Jones. Last Tuesday Allgeyer and Miss Alexander took a trolley trip to Springfield, where they obtained a marriage license. Charles W. Byers, the license clerk, suggested his Methodist pastor, the Rev. Grace Jolly Jones. The party of three motored to the minister's home on the outskirts of the city, where the mock marriage was made real.

Moore, the mock best man, discovered Friday that John had acted upon his suggestion. He invited the Allgeyers to his house and when they returned in the evening they found their home invaded by the large party of friends, the 40 steins and the cut glass.

Mr. and Mrs. Allgeyer will make an extended wedding journey to Atlantic coast resorts.

LAWYER ROSCH IN FIGHT

Attorney Nicholas Rosch, 404 Morgan street, and James B. Hubbard, proprietor of a hotel at 417 Morgan street, became engaged in a fight in front of Rosch's home Sunday night when Hubbard accused Rosch of having written letters to the police reflecting on the character of the hotel. Rosch sustained a slight scalp wound, which was dressed at the dispensary. Hubbard was arrested.

ST. LOUIS EXPENSES FOR YEAR $170,000 OVER THE RECEIPTS

Comptroller Player Says $60,000 of Deficit Is Caused by Cutting Off Insurance Tax.

St. Louis is short just $170,000 of the amount necessary to meet municipal expenses for the current year, according to the statement of Comptroller Player to a Post-Dispatch reporter Monday.

Sixty thousand dollars of this deficit is attributed by the Comptroller to the passage of a law at the recent session of the State Legislature giving to the public schools of the State the license revenue derived from foreign insurance companies.

Heretofore the foreign insurance receipts had been divided among the various municipalities of the State and the fact that they had been diverted to public school channels was not known to Comptroller Player until a copy of the new statute was sent to him a few days ago.

Assessment Increase Small. "The increase in the assessed valuation of real estate and personal property in this city for taxation purposes for 1913 was $3,000,000, which is the smallest in 40 years," said Comptroller Player.

"Last year the assessed valuation was $25,000,000 above 1911, and $8,000,000 over 1910, when the increase was more than $20,000,000. The assessment for this year was a great surprise to me. I figured $5,000,000 increase at the very lowest, and thought it would probably run three times that amount."

City Is Retrenching. "The city already has suspended the hauling of ashes, an item it is said which will cost the average property owner from $4 to $6 a year. The cost of this work to the city was $100,000 a year. Other public improvements also have been stopped."

Delegates McCarthy and Scully and Councilmen Argentes and Randall were present when Player made this statement. Player was asked why the city didn't cut down on the use of automobiles.

"We have cut the auto item to the bone," said the Comptroller. "A bill appropriating $2200 for a touring car for City Treasurer Menne is now pending in the Assembly, and this request has been approved by the Comptroller."

"I have conferred with the Street, Sewer and Park Commissioners and other members of the Board of Public Improvements," said the Comptroller, "and they have agreed to conduct their departments as economically as possible during the current year."

"I am in hopes that it will not be necessary to make any drastic cuts on municipal work, as that which is now being done is imperative necessary."

"The city, however, has been up against a hard proposition and a small increase in tax rates would have solved all our troubles."

Thinks Tax Increase Sure. The Municipal Assembly passed a bill providing an increase of 10 cents in the tax rate, which would have covered all the city's public improvement needs and left a balance of $600,000 to complete the wagon approach to the free bridge.

Mayor Kiel vetoed the bill, Comptroller Player asked that the increase be limited to 8 cents and opposed the extra tax for bridge purposes.

In answer to a question as to whether a tax increase next year would have to be made for municipal improvements, the Comptroller said:

"To meet actual expenditures the St. Louis tax rate will have to go up," declared the Comptroller. "I don't know how much the rate will be, possibly 1 or 6 cents, anyway, on the $100 valuation."

GRANITE CITY CABLES CUT, TELEPHONES OUT

Men Strikebreakers Forced to Quit When Merchants Refuse to Sell Supplies for Them.

The exchange of the Bell Telephone Co. at Granite City was closed Sunday after the large lead-covered cables leading to the building had been cut by strike sympathizers, and 180 telephones in Granite City, Venice and Madison were put out of commission. Officials of the company said Monday the exchange will remain closed for a few days until the cables have been repaired.

Fifteen men strike breakers, who replaced the girl operators Saturday night after a threatening crowd gathered outside the building, were escorted to street cars by the police amid jeers and cat calls by the crowd after it was decided to suspend the service.

Arrangements had been made to furnish the telephone employees with food while they worked, but the restaurants in the city were boycotted if they sold food to the company. The men made efforts to purchase ice, but this, too, was refused.

Colorado Is Bigger than Imagination

The brush of fancy can't paint upon the canvas of the mind as wonderfully as nature's titanic hands have built here in the birth-spot of the mighty Rockies.

But Colorado is a condition as well as a picture. You'll not only see a country different from any under the stars, but you'll be a different human the moment you stand in the shadows of her majestic ranges and bathe your worn and sluggish city-dulled being in the vital, sparkling, clean, clear, sweet air of the great American Highlands.

The best way to reach the best places in Colorado is by the best road on the continent. Take the Rock Island and take a rest.

From the moment the wheels start the journey, it's a vacation on such luxurious trains as the Colorado Flyer (from St. Louis.)

Not many persons are willing to wait until TOMORROW to learn what has happened in the world TODAY. The development of the modern evening newspaper has made it unnecessary. Time was, perhaps, when even the best evening newspaper was merely a bulletin of events. But now it is a live, eager, alert eye-witness to what is happening within the day and the hour—and it keeps you informed about things UP TO THE HOUR, and that applies to STORES, as well as to NEWS. In St. Louis the Post-Dispatch is the ONE BIG Newspaper, the one big evening advertising medium—the one authority on the news of the day and the news of the stores.

Little Miss Ernestine Brown of Chester, Ill., is visiting her very dear friend, Mrs. G. Gauman of 2212 South Compton avenue, St. Louis.

This reads like a society item, but it isn't. It's a Pure Milk Fund item.

Little Miss Ernestine Brown herself makes it so. She is only 5 years old. Instantly, when she heard of the St. Louis campaign to save the lives of the teeming babies, she enlisted for active service in that good cause.

It seemed to Little Miss Ernestine Brown that she would make a quite successful apron saleswoman. The dear Lord only knows what put aprons in her head. But there they were.

Wherefore nothing would do but that Little Miss Ernestine Brown should have aprons to sell. Mrs. Gauman saw to it that she had them. They were serviceable aprons, too, for women engaged in housework.

And for two whole days last week Little Miss Ernestine Brown devoted all the powers of her mighty intellect to the selling of aprons.

She sold 33 of them—just think of that! She earned $5 for the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund to save the babies.

And then she came down to the Post-Dispatch office, accompanied by Mrs. Gauman, and turned in the money.

It was in a lovely little blue-embroidered hand-bag, very tiny, in keeping with Little Miss Ernestine Brown's own physical being.

Indeed, they looked alike, the bag and Little Miss Ernestine Brown, so dainty and prettily appointed were both.

And when Little Miss Ernestine Brown was told that her name would be enrolled on the membership list of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund League and that a League membership card would be mailed to her in care of Mrs. Gauman, she was the proudest lady of her size and age in all St. Louis.

Her name has been thus enrolled, too, and a League membership card has been sent to her.

It testifies that Little Miss Ernestine Brown has helped to save the life of a teeming baby.

All honor to this little child! And all honor to every one of the many, many children who are so zealously helping the Pure Milk Fund to save the babies.

From every section of St. Louis now they are reporting their work in behalf of the babies and bringing in the money they have earned.

They are a splendid army of little helpers.

Their slogan is the League slogan: "Save the babies!"

MABEL TALIAFERRO IN "SUNDAY" AT SUBURBAN

Mabel Taliaferro began her Suburban Garden engagement on Sunday evening with a pleasing portrayal of the title role in "Sunday," created by Ethel Barrymore several seasons ago. The part is well suited to her, and the performance was enjoyed by the largest Suburban audience of the season.

The stock company capably supported the star. Morris McHugh was cast as Lively, one of the four Western miners who "fathered and mothered" Sunday; Philip Sheffield as Jacky, who kills Arthur Brinkthorpe (Joseph Gilmore), for insulting her; Wilbur Higby as Towser, Daniel Hall as Davy, completing the miner quartet; Diana Storm as the nun who takes Sunday away to school; Warren Fabien as Tom Oxley, and Arthur Behrens as Col. Brinkthorpe, Sunday's aristocratic English sweetheart and brother of the man slain on her account.

A thing of beauty and a joy forever—the McCray Refrigerator. Retail Dept., 3d street, 5 doors north of Locust.

VETERAN LAJOIE SLATED TO PLAY REGULARLY AGAIN

Because Naps Are in Batting Slump, Big Frenchman May Serve in Series Here.

Stovall Has Hedges' Word That He Is to Continue as Manager

GEORGE STOVALL, chaplain of the Browns, announced today that he had no intention of making a change in managers. "I am not going to make a change in managers," he said. "I am not going to make a change in managers." "When I saw Mr. Hedges in Chicago I told him that I understood the St. Louis papers were hinting that there was to be a change in the management of the club," said Stovall. "I told him that I wanted to know how I stood; that I didn't want to continue in charge of the club if he was thinking of making a change."

By Clarence F. Lloyd

The Naps of Cleveland, who although stilling the Athletics by 8½ games, still believe they have a look-in for the American League pennant, are here to do battle with the Browns in a four-game series beginning Monday afternoon at Sportsman's Park.

The Naps have been attracting much attention in the last few days because of the feud between Manager Joe Birmingham and Nap Lajoie, the veteran slugging second sacker, or near-second sacker. The trouble arose several days ago when Birmingham announced that Lajoie would serve as a bench-warmer and pinch-hitter because he had slowed up.

The big Frenchman didn't take kindly to his boss' remarks and made threats of quitting the team or demanding his release to some other team. He didn't release the idea of playing second fiddle to some other performer when he still felt that he was capable of holding down a regular job.

May Break In Here.

Unofficially it is stated that Lajoie will be the "second sacker" in the series with the Browns. He is due for reinstatement as a regular because the Naps haven't been winning very regularly recently, due to a slump in batting. Inasmuch as hitting has always been Lajoie's forte, he is almost certain of showing regularly.

That Lajoie has retrograded into a bench-warmer since the Naps last showed at Sportsman's Park will seem strange to those who saw the big Frenchman perform in those games. In the spring he proved one of the marvels of baseball. He played sensational baseball, despite his long term of service in the big show and was one of the main reasons why the Naps figured as a pennant contender.

Too Much Admiration.

An injury to his hand kept him out of the game for almost a month. During that time he fattened up a bit and when he returned to the lineup, he was slower about and didn't show the same old Lajoie. It was for that reason that Lajoie was benched in favor of Truck Turner.

Browns Doing Nicely.

The Browns are welcome home because they got going again after a dismal stay in the East. They are playing in Chicago and Detroit was one of the features of the American League during the past week.

Chaplain Stovall.

Chaplain Stovall, who has been with the Browns for three of the four games, has been a big factor in the team's success. He has been a big factor in the team's success. He has been a big factor in the team's success.

Giants-Phillies Series This Week May Settle National League Race Says John McGraw

Outcome of Important Games to Hang Greatly on Pitchers

Brooklyn Does the Giants a Good Turn by Whacking Dooins' Team Hard.

By John J. McGraw

MANAGER OF THE NEW YORK GIANTS. NEW YORK, June 29.—The Brooklyn club was the little brother of the Giants last week. Previous to this series, the Superbas have been easy for the Phillies, but they turned on the Quakers and put the New York team right up in the running. The set of games that begins today is of vital importance because the two clubs are so closely bunched now, and the outcome of this series may mark the turning point in the race for the championship.

So far this season the New York club has not won a game from the Quakers on their own grounds. Neither has Philadelphia received a decision over the Giants at the Polo Grounds. If the Quakers should clean up in this series beginning today, it would put that club ahead again, and it might be very hard plowing to catch them. The manner in which the Giants breezed through the West demonstrated that the New York team carries a big punch when pushed. Should the Giants gather the percentage points by taking three or four of these games, it would drop Philadelphia so hard that the team would have to do a whole lot of re-arranging.

Brooklyn has formed the habit of trouncing the Giants this year whenever the opportunity offers, and the club plays its best against New York. Dahlen has a good team now and it is working smoothly. He is receiving great pitching, and the club still has a chance to make a fight for the pennant if it will play the kind of ball it showed against my bunch last week.

Pitchers in Poor Shape.

The reason I expect the Quakers to crack this week is because their pitchers are not in good shape. Season has been greatly overworked, as has Alexander. The latter was knocked out of the box by Brooklyn last week and so was Chambers. He has not been going well at all lately. The Giants have just recovered their batting eyes and against the Philadelphia pitching should run up some big scores behind their twirlers to encourage them.

Boston is still living up to the reputation which Stallings has established for the club this year and it is just as liable as ever to upset any of the leaders for a game or two any time. It tripped the Giants last week when we were looking for a clinch. I have never seen such an improvement in a team as there has been in the Boston aggregation this year over that wearing the same shirts last season. You have to be introduced to the club all over again.

Still Crossed by Cubs.

The Cubs are still crossing me. Just when it looked as if they had discovered some real pitchers and would shoot to the front to make the going interesting, they started to cross again, and against the Eastern clubs, too, after having put up a fine battle with the recent Eastern invaders. Just give Evans a couple of good pitchers on whom he could count without sending them into the box with a prayer, and he would be up near the top quarreling with the best of them. With a real pitching staff, he would make a grand fight for the pennant because he certainly has talent in the rest of his lineup. They are all smart ball players, too, which counts for a whole lot and results in many good plays that the fans overlook.

The Pirates are more and more beyond me. They lack good catching. It is true, and this has hurt the pitching department. But the rest of the club appears to be dead on its feet.

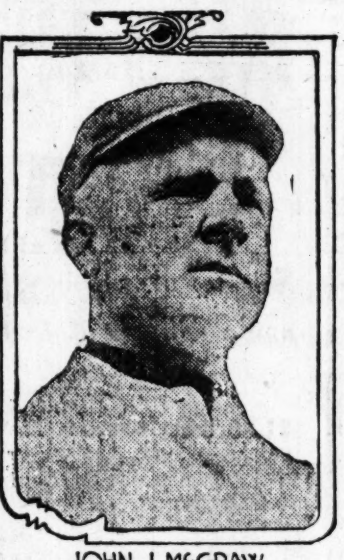

The Pirates should finish in the first division, but I do not see how they can crowd up into the pennant fight when they are so far behind now. I believe

JOHN J. MCGRAW

American League Race Seems to Be Both Settled and Unsettled.

I believe. But there are no better in the League than the Athletics, I believe, and a whole lot of American League managers are becoming more convinced of the same thing every day. It has been announced that John Coombs will not be able to play with his club again this year. If he had been in condition this season, the Philadelphia team would just about have broken up the League. Can you imagine Bender, Plank and Coombs at the top of their stridings with the flock of excellent squad pitchers which Connie Mack has dug up working with them, and that slugging team behind this pitching smothering the League. Even without Coombs, the Athletics are now making a runaway race of it.

Cleveland Hangs On.

Practically the only American League manager who has not yet admitted by the showing of his club that he is convinced there is no better team in the League than Philadelphia is Birmingham of Cleveland. That club is hanging on to its place to beat the hand and fighting every inch. However, the Athletics have opened up such a big lead within the last few weeks by the steady ball they have played that I do not see how the Naps can have a look-in for the final money. Still, the Giants had a lead of 10 games last summer and the Cubs healed it up too close for comfort. The only way in which Cleveland can get a chance for one of Mack's veteran pitchers to crack and the young twirlers blow up with the strain of the race if it gets tight. Otherwise it is all Athletics.

I do not figure Boston, Washington or Chicago in it unless the Athletics get caught in a railroad wreck and annihilated. Of course, they have to ride on the New Haven road, which, with polo, is rated among the most dangerous of sports.

the American League race is settled, and it's unsettled. The standing of the clubs today does not look anything like what everybody thought it would when folks were talking over prospects in April. The Red Sox are down in the second division and Chance is down in last place. Many optimists thought before the race began that Chance might break loose with the Yankees through applying the old Cub methods and make a stab for the championship, or for the first division, anyway. Chance thought so himself, until he got a look at the players he had inherited in action. Then he promptly changed his mind.

AMERICAN TENNIS PLAYER WINS WAY TO BRITISH FINAL

Maurice M'Loughlin Defeats Irish Champion Parke in Semi-Final of English Tourney.

WIMBLEDON, June 29.—Maurice E. M'Loughlin of San Francisco, the young American lawn tennis champion, today brilliantly cleared another fence barring his way to the title of all-England champion, by beating the formidable J. C. Parke, Irish and Scottish champion, by three straight sets in the semi-final round. Scores, 6-4, 7-6 and 6-4.

Americans on the ground were ready before the match to wager the Statue of Liberty on the chances of their champion, and as the match started there was never a doubt as to who would win. No match in recent years had so stirred the lawn tennis world and fully 5000 enthusiasts gathered round the center court of the championship, ground to witness the great struggle.

Spectators Applaud Yankee.

The American champion, with his terrific hitting and his panther-like activity, especially during the second set, drew roars of applause from the excited spectators.

Parke started well, flattering the British onlookers by taking the first game. He finished with a winning net cord stroke. The next two games were taken by M'Loughlin, who, coming close to the net and using his favorite cross shots, quickly established a lead of three games to one. Then the Irishman rallied and with a series of beautiful passing drives crept up to 4-3 and to 5-4. As soon, however, as the Californian fell back and adopted his opponent's tactics, he won the next game and the set.

MAURICE M'LOUGHLIN

LARRY many a ball is walloped fair and clean. But on the other hand, some balls are known to curve and buff the batter on the bean and flatten out against a hunk of bone.

If the Cards (we call them Cards when they win) showed a weakness of any kind Sunday it wasn't a lack of Harmony.

Can the Washingtons come back? Well, they're pointed that way.

DOG DAYS.

Manager Jack O'Connor of the "Terrifiers," in an earnest but misguided effort to provide his patrons with a little extra entertainment before the game, nudged Umpire Jack McNulty in the right eye, damaging said optic to such an extent that he couldn't see his way clear to continuing as a Federal umpire.

Fine weather for warming up pitchers.

Well, that was all right as far as it went, but it didn't go very far. The maiden answered with a pout: "I'm wet enough," said she. "My stockings are on wrong side of me."

WRAY'S COLUMN

Hedges Will NOT Quit.

THOSE devoted Browns came promptly to the rescue of President Hedges, principal stockholder of the club, who recently stated that unless his team quit seventh place he would quit the team.

For one entire day last week the club braved vertigo by rising to the dizzy altitude of sixth place—long enough to vindicate Hedges. Then the engine went dead, and—well, volupian again is the prevailing suspicion. Let's hope for a safe landing.

Played Like a Near-Team.

NEVERTHELESS, the Browns had a week that by contrast with the team's previous record was enough to almost cause encouragement. They yielded with the Athletics in performance, winning six of nine games played. But just to show it's a difference in the work of a real club and a near club, view the following figures:

It's the tight scoring machine that gets there in the end.

Mutual Appreciation.

PRESIDENT POWERS of the Federal League was surprised and hurt when Jack O'Connor assaulted Umpire McNulty at Federal Field—a condition which approximately duplicated the feelings of Mr. McNulty himself after he took stock of himself following the encounter.

Too Much Hero Worship.

WHAT! Bench Larry Lajoie? Bench the Constitution, first!

At least that's the way the hero-worshippers who have spoken Larry's name with near-reverence for 18 years show the row between the veteran player and his team leader.

And yet the choleric Mr. Birmingham, who is trying to approach nearer a pennant than the Lick Observatory might bring it, may not be altogether wrong in his threat to keep the mighty Napoleon on the wood.

Lajoie has been playing major league ball for 18 years—precisely the record of our own Bobby Wallace. He has been

O'Connor Draws Suspension for Hitting Umpire

President John T. Powers of the Federal League dropped into St. Louis' long enough Sunday to slip Manager Jack O'Connor of the Terrifiers an indefinite term of suspension for his run-in with Umpire Jack McNulty before Saturday's game.

O'Connor's layoff begins Monday. Just how long he will be forced to remain off the field Powers did not say, but it is stated that it would not be long. It is also understood that O'Connor was fined. In dealing out the punishment to O'Connor, President Powers said the League did not intend to tolerate rowdiness on the ball field.

An effort was made by Powers to have Jack McNulty reconsider his decision to retire as an umpire, but the St. Louis boy remained firm and would not don the blue. As a result it was necessary for Frank Fears to handle the game alone.

CONFESSION MADE TO HUSBAND ALONE NO DIVORCE BASIS

Judge Cave So Rules in Continuing Case Against Mrs. Gertrude Calhoun.

SHE DOES NOT CONTEST IT

Husband Says He Found Her With Men in Cafe; She Said She Didn't Love Him.

In the divorce case of William James Calhoun Jr. of 4123 St. Louis avenue against Gertrude B. Calhoun, Monday, Judge Cave ruled that a wife's admission to her husband that she loves another man is not sufficient ground for divorce if the statement is made to the husband alone and is not heard by a third party.

Mrs. Calhoun's sister, Mrs. Mary Sullivan, appeared as a witness for Calhoun and testified that Mrs. Calhoun told her she had found someone whom she loved more than she loved her husband.

Continuance Is Granted.

After the judge had announced that he would dismiss Calhoun's suit, Lester Heyman, Calhoun's attorney, asked a continuance, saying he wanted time to introduce additional testimony. The judge granted the continuance, saying he would docket the case for early in September.

Mrs. Calhoun did not contest the suit, though her attorney, A. M. Frumberg, was in court. Frumberg took no active part at the hearing.

On the witness stand Calhoun told of finding his wife drinking with four men at Specht's cafe on Pine street May 30.

He walked into the cafe, he said, and asked his wife to leave the place and go with him. She replied she would not and said she wanted him to get a divorce, Calhoun testified. The next day he said, he saw her in an automobile with two men on Washington avenue.

The Calhouns were married April 30, 1910, and separated May 30. Calhoun stating as the date of the separation the day on which he found his wife at Specht's.

He testified that their married life was happy until about six months ago, when his wife began to neglect her home and "let things get dusty."

Tells of Wife's Confession.

They had been living with his parents at the St. Louis avenue address. On May 31 last, he said, he proposed that they move to an apartment house. His wife, he said, told him:

"It is too late for us to try to make a home for ourselves. I haven't given you a square deal. I have been indiscreet. I love another man."

Calhoun said he told his wife to go to her parents' home and think it over. The next day, he said, she returned to him and told him she would never again be indiscreet. He believed, he said, that she was sincere in this promise until he found her at the cafe.

Willis M. Gaffney testified he was a friend of Calhoun's and that he followed Calhoun into Specht's cafe May 30. He said he saw Mrs. Calhoun seated at a table with three men and he heard Calhoun say to her: "I have caught you at last."

Mrs. Calhoun, according to Gaffney, replied: "Yes, you have, Jim."

Gaffney said he pushed Calhoun out of the cafe and induced Mrs. Calhoun to leave the place. Gaffney put Mrs. Calhoun on a street car, he said.

Orto Walter testified that last Saturday night he saw Mrs. Calhoun in an automobile with a man at Delmar boulevard and Taylor avenue.

Miss Irene Calhoun, sister of Calhoun testified that she never saw Mrs. Calhoun do anything wrong.

In announcing that in his opinion insufficient evidence had been introduced, Judge Cave said Mrs. Calhoun's admission to her husband that she loved another man, even if she did make it, must be considered a privileged communication between husband and wife. The same admission, whether made to her husband or to anyone else, could not be admitted as competent testimony if it was not made in the presence of a third party, he said.

Corroboration Lacking.

The judge added that even granting that the admission constituted an indignity it was not the purpose of the Court to grant a divorce on the showing that the defendant had been guilty of only one indignity in the absence of corroborative evidence that she was telling the truth when she said she loved another man.

Ella McClendon Is Big Mystery of Bollinger County Claimant to Two Estates Says She Is Persecuted With Eyes That Change Color. She Stares at Questioners

Talks Only in Generalities About Old Man's Bequest to Her of $125,000.

MANY ARE HER DEFENDERS

She Has About Made Up Mind, She Says, to Shoot Next Stranger Who Visits Her.

The curious story of Ella McClendon of Sturdivant, Bollinger County, Mo., increases in interest, instead of diminishing, as additional information about this extraordinary young woman is brought to light.

She is charged with financial transactions that would have required intimate knowledge of banking methods and unusual opportunities of using this knowledge. Yet how she could have acquired the information and how she could use it if she had it is yet largely unexplained.

A Post-Dispatch reporter spent several days in Southeast Missouri investigating the various affairs with which her name is associated. He found Ella McClendon the one topic of general conversation. Men were talking about her case at every hotel, in the railroad stations and on trains. Many persons championed her cause, declaring it incredible she could have conceived and worked out some of the enterprises in which she is said to be involved.

She Is County's Mystery.

Ella McClendon is Bollinger County's big mystery. In times past there have been puzzling affairs within the county's borders, although doubtless not more of them than in any other district of the same size. Occasionally some enterprising citizen, with the aid of a shotgun and a clump of underbrush, has removed a less resourceful brother from the sphere of human activity, and has left the community guessing as to the identity of the remover. But this sort of thing has gone out of fashion, of late, and never was more than locally interesting.

In Ella McClendon, however, Rollings finds romance and uncertainty. County officers have interested themselves in her case and have confessed themselves puzzled. Big business of the neighborhood has been similarly aroused and also has confessed its inability to solve the mystery. United States secret service men, postoffice inspectors, District Attorneys and Judges, the operatives of a detective agency whose fame is worldwide, have prowled around trying to learn the truth about Ella McClendon.

Known in Admired Ways.

She has lived in the village of Sturdivant most of her life. She is known as well on the streets of Marble Hill and of Advance and Bloomfield, in the adjoining county of Stoddard, as she is in her home. Hundreds of persons have traveled with her in her general store or have received mail from her hands when she was assistant postmaster of Sturdivant. They have known her as a friendly, rather pleasant, sociable young woman, ready to do anybody a favor than to ask one for herself. An outsider, at first appearance, would set her down as an average countrywoman of that district, with an indifferent education, incapable of things requiring extraordinary cleverness.

This is perhaps only a surface indication. A conversation with her about her own affairs will show her unusually quick-witted and adroit. The more one talks to her the more he gains the impression that her outward stolidity is a mask. There is quick thinking behind it and fire, too, as the writer learned when she flouted at him a declaration that if she believed him to be one of the spies who had been harassing her, he would be carried out of her store, "feet first."

Two Cases Are Pending.

On public record she appears connected principally with two cases of importance. She is under $1000 bond, charged with using the mails to defraud. She is plaintiff in a suit against the Bank of Advance for $25. This money represents the face value of forged and raised checks, cashed through her store. A jury found in favor of her contention that she was the innocent purchaser of the checks, and the bank has taken the case to the higher courts on appeal. But these things are dwarfed by the greater significance of two other cases in which her affairs have become entangled. One of these is the George M. Nicholas case and the other is the John Rohan case.

Nicholas was a wealthy, eccentric Virginia farmer. He died in Virginia last August of arsenic poisoning. Fourteen days after his death a will purporting to bear his signature appeared. It was sent in mysteriously by a man who swore that he had robbed Nicholas of the will, among other papers, that his conscience hurt him when he noticed a woman was named in the testament, and that he didn't wish to do an injustice to her. The woman named was Ella McClendon. The bequest to her reached the total valuation of $125,000.

Rohan was a farmer, who, like Nicholas, was more than 70 years old. He died suddenly in Gower, Mo., last February. A check for $1000 purporting to bear his signature, and payable to "Ed Elders" for $2000 which appeared after his death, has been called a forgery. A note, also bearing his name, drawn for $2000, has been filed as a claim against his estate.

The payee named in the note was Ella McClendon. A decoy letter, addressed to "Ed Elders," led to the arrest of Ella McClendon. Postoffice inspectors having declared they traced it to her and that she answered it with a letter which she signed "Ed Elders."

Within the last few years there has been an epidemic of small check forgeries in Southeast Missouri and attempted large ones which failed. Many of these have been traced to Sturdivant.

ELLA MCCLENDON.

One of the largest of these latter was a deposit of checks calling for more than $4000 in a Cape Girardeau bank, payable to "Elsie Whitaker." Elsie Whitaker's name appears also in transactions which involve also the names of "Ed Elders" and Ella McClendon. It has come to be conceded that if the identity and whereabouts of "Ed Elders" and "Elsie Whitaker" can be learned, many mysteries surrounding the affairs of Ella McClendon will be cleared up.

Stays Biggest in Town.

Miss McClendon was in her store at Sturdivant when the Post-Dispatch reporter saw her. There was a man, one of her customers, apparently, too, in the building. But he went outside for a minute and the reporter's liveliness detained him in conversation until the interview was over.

Miss McClendon's store is in a roughly built building. It is like almost every other house of the half dozen in what might be called Sturdivant's "business section." Its architecture is of the simplest. It consists principally of long planks nailed up side by side, with a roof over them. It was painted white at one time, but the paint has cracked and worn off, in spots, and the place has an air of plaintive dilapidation. It is roomy, however, and the store is the largest in the small village. The reporter was able to count only 17 residences. There may have been more, but they were farther back in the trees.

The storekeeper was wearing a rather pretentious blue dress, which probably had been Sunday apparel at one time. It was rather low at the neck, with a lace effect about the collar.

Shows Effect of Illness.

The storekeeper was a slender young woman, close to 5 feet 4 inches in height. Her neck and face were inclined to be thin and there were circles under her eyes. Her complexion was slightly sallow, probably due to a recent illness, of which she spoke, and to worry over her troubles. Her lips were thin and firm. Her features were delicate. Her hair, neatly combed, was a light brown.

The most striking thing about her was her eyes. They were rather large and sometimes seemed blue and sometimes gray. For the most part they were languid, but when she spoke of what she called her persecution, they snapped and flashed and then settled into a cool, steady, straight stare.

At the beginning she was not inclined to discuss her case. She remarked that she didn't know who were her friends, and she feared to put confidence in anybody.

"There are men down here who would do anything to get rid of me," she declared. "They have hounded me with abuse. Perhaps you are only another of them."

For a long time the reporter tried to persuade her to make a statement, but she fenced with him, at times displaying great shrewdness and at other times assuming an air of stolid indifference. When she spoke of what she called her wrongs, her face flushed.

BULGARS ATTACK BOTH GREEK AND SERBIAN FORCES

Heavy Fighting Along Line Follows General Attack Which Is Begun in Early Morning.

GREEK FLEET SENT OUT

Servian House Is So Excited at News It Adjourns; Great Loss of Life Expected.

By Associated Press.

BELGRADE, June 30.—The Bulgarians this morning opened attack on the Servian troops along the whole line in Macedonia, according to dispatches from the Servian headquarters.

According to a later message, the Bulgarians also attacked the Greek troops along their whole front. Large masses of troops participated in the fighting, which was of a very deadly nature.

The Bulgarian troops opened their attack at 2 o'clock this morning on the Servian advance posts before Istip and two hours later their artillery was brought into action.

The Bulgarian attack gradually spread until there was fighting at Retna, Boukva, Zletovo, Neogast and Valandovo.

The Bulgarians appeared intent upon seizing the railroad.

The publication of the news caused intense excitement in the Servian capital.

The Servian Premier, N. P. Pachitch, who was addressing the Servian Parliament in support of his policy of accepting the arbitration offered by the Russian Emperor when the news of the outbreak of hostilities was brought in, rushed to his office.

Excited House Adjourns.

The excitement in the House was so great that the sitting had to be suspended and the fate of the Pachitch Cabinet remains undecided.

The opposition members demand guarantees that the territory in Macedonia now held by the Servian troops shall be annexed.

Greek Fleet Sails, King Starts for Saloniki.

ATHENS, Greece, June 30.—The Greek fleet was instructed today to sail forthwith to Tsagel, a small port near the Gulf of Saloniki. King Constantine of Greece started today for Saloniki.

Berlin Hears of Desperate Fighting in Macedonia.

BERLIN, June 30.—Heavy fighting is in progress in Macedonia, according to dispatches received here. Hostilities opened between the Servian and Bulgarian troops in the neighborhood of Istip and between the Greeks and the Bulgarians in the vicinity of Drama.

Greeks Burn Village East of Saloniki, Routed by Bulgarians.

SOFIA, June 30.—More fighting occurred today between the Greek and Bulgarian troops, some distance east of Saloniki.

According to the Bulgarian account, the Greek soldiers tried to cut the Bulgarian communication along the railroad from Serres to Drama, but were driven off by the Bulgarians after they had burned a village.

JOHN KANUPKE IS PAROLED TO JUDGE KIMMEL

Father of 10 Children Was Sentenced for Assault Upon a Neighbor.

Judge Karl Kimmel of the Clark Avenue Police Court received word from Jefferson City Monday that John Kanupke had been paroled to him from the penitentiary.

Kanupke was sentenced to a 24-year term for felonious assault upon a neighbor, Alfred Gunners. His imprisonment has cost his wife her reason.

Attack Begun at 2 A. M.

The trouble began in a clothes-line quarrel over a dog which belonged to Kanupke's daughter, Mamie. Gunners complained the dog was a nuisance and Mrs. Gunners said the animal kept customers away from her store. The dog finally was killed, but the quarrel grew.

One evening Gunners went to the Kanupke home and the two men fought. Gunners testified at the trial Kanupke assaulted him with a hammer. Kanupke's plea was self-defense and he was charged that Gunners had a revolver.

The jury found Kanupke guilty. Afterward the affair was called to the attention of Judge Kimmel. He reached the conclusion Kanupke had been punished already more than his offense deserved and became active in a fight for a parole. Eleven of the 12 jurors who convicted Kanupke signed a petition for his release.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

FISHERMEN RESCUE GIRL

Emma Milliken, 1-year-old daughter of Fred Milliken, 10 North Pine street, East St. Louis, was rescued Sunday from the Vandalia barge on the East Side, after she had jumped into the deep water from a raft which had floated from the shore.

Gus Diebentrock and Jacob Wolf of St. Louis, who were fishing, heard the cries of the girl and leaped into the slough, bringing her to the bank after she had gone down the second time.

STOWAWAY RIDES FIRST CLASS ON A FRENCH LINER

Speaks Six Languages and Says
He Had No Trouble Evading
Ticket Takers.

HUNTS A JOB, IS CAUGHT

Audaciously Applies to Ellis Island and May Be Deported
as the Result.

NEW YORK, June 29.—There is on Ellis Island a young man with a studious air and the easy, cosmopolitan ways of a traveler. He is Joseph Gronberger, 28 years old, a graduate of the University of Heidelberg. He speaks six languages, but he has no money and is deficient in logic, as will appear.

He went to Ellis Island to get a job as an interpreter. His qualifications were found to be first-class, but when the officials put to him some necessary questions they found the best of reasons for holding him as a prisoner and an alien, subject to deportation.

Gronberger is the most remarkable and highest class stowaway ever brought to the attention of the immigration authorities. After he had passed his brilliant examination for the post of interpreter, he was asked how long he had been in America.

"Three days," said Joseph Gronberger, Ph. D.

"On what ship did you arrive?"

"The France," he replied.

"In what class?"

"First class," said Gronberger.

Name Not on Manifest.

The officials looked through the passenger list and his name was not there. Next they inspected the ship's manifest and his name appeared in no class, first, second or third.

The linguist acknowledged that he was a stowaway. He was well dressed. He had no baggage. He had no money. He just walked aboard at Havre. He kept moving around. The head waiter assigned him to a nice seat in the first-class dining saloon. He was a very agreeable table companion. His French was perfect. His knowledge of European politics comprehensive and accurate. His fund of general information extensive and his manners were above reproach. He dodged stewards and the pursers at such times as his ticket was likely to be called for, slipped into vacant state-rooms, nooks and deck corners and occasionally hid under a lifeboat.

When the France reached quarantine lightning struck the foremast, sliding harmlessly off the spar and stunning the boat's seven sailors. The resulting excitement aided Gronberger's bold scheme.

When the ship was made fast just after midnight of June 28 he was among the first ashore, after politely lifting his hat and shaking hands with officers whose acquaintance he had made. He had no baggage to be examined and lost no time in leaving the pier.

For three days Gronberger drifted penniless around New York looking for something to do. Then a brilliant idea struck him. He would get an interpreter's job at the immigration station. He didn't know about the immigration laws and supposed himself safe, having gained admission to the country.

Recognized as Stowaway.

While they were quizzing Gronberger on Ellis Island, a boarding officer entered the room and, taking a look at the German, exclaimed:

"This is the fellow I took off the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria last December. He had no ticket, but was in the steerage that trip."

Now Ellis Island hasn't decided what to do with the audacious stowaway. He is a good interpreter, but if he is admitted to the country the French line is liable to a $500 fine for bringing an alien stowaway to the United States and if they deport him they will lose a first-class interpreter. It may be the Department of Commerce and Labor will make an exception and remit the fine, allowing Gronberger, the only known stowaway who ever beat a first-class passage in a swell ocean hotel, to stay here.

Negro Pugilist, Before Sailing,

MONTREAL, June 30.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, accompanied by his white wife, Lucille Cameron Johnson, sailed for Havre on the Allan Line steamer Corinthian at 3 o'clock Sunday morning.

Johnson reiterated his statement that he had no intention of forfeiting his bail bond in Chicago, and was going Europe to recoup the losses he has sustained by his trials. He declared he would be in Chicago when his appeal from a Mann act conviction is argued in November.

In Which More Than a Million & a Half Dollars Worth of Splendid New Merchandise Is Offered for Prompt Clear-away With Unsparing Price Revisions on Every Article
(Excepting Only a Few Restricted Lines)

IT was a great sight to behold this morning as this greatest trade event in the mercantile history of St. Louis & the crowning value-giving event of our merchandising career was getting under way, & the vast throngs of enthusiastic buyers were pouring through the various sections eagerly availing themselves of the wonderful values offered in dependable, seasonable wares. When the purchase totals for the day are available we feel sure that a new sales record will be made, one that will far eclipse any previously set. For a time we were prone to think that we had overestimated the task of a complete disposal of this MILLION & A HALF DOLLAR STOCK OF DEPENDABLE MERCHANDISE in the two short months given for its accomplishment.

We doubt if any store ever had such a generous response to a merchandising event; we question if the GENERAL PUBLIC HAS EVER BEEN SO THOROUGHLY & GENUINELY INTERESTED IN A SALE as in this one. For weeks it has been a daily occurrence for people in St. Louis, as well as from various nearby towns, to telephone to this store inquiring about the date of this wonder sale, & asking that they be advised when it would start.

It is impracticable to quote prices in the advertising, as to do so would mean to list $1,500,000.00 worth of merchandise from all the various departments. Every article in the store has been subjected to a price reduction of from 10 to 50 per cent, excepting a few restricted lines. In many instances the reductions are even more radical.

Because of the wide scope of this prodigious clearaway of merchandise, involving as it does practically every article in the house, we have deviated from our custom of quoting individual items. But when we designate this Removal Sale as THE CLIMAX TO OUR MANY YEARS OF GREATER VALUE GIVING it is full of significance to the public, & stands as a sale event of the greatest magnitude—one of vital importance to every man, woman & child & to every home within the shopping radius of St. Louis. The helpfulness of the sale is limited only by the needs of the people who share in the wonderful savings that are offered throughout every section. Since practically every article in the store has been subjected to the unhesitating price cutting many will anticipate Fall & Winter needs this far ahead & provide them now when such extraordinary price abatements are given on staple standard merchandise.

The entire store is SURCHARGED WITH THE REMOVAL SALE SPIRIT. Patrons are lending a great co-operation in taking the small parcels with them. Every branch of the store's service is keyed to the highest efficiency to care for the tremendous buying activity which has already come & will continue to follow in the wake of these announcements of this SIGNAL EVENT IN THE RETAILING HISTORY OF ST. LOUIS & THE WEST.

Because of Extreme Price Reductions Double Eagle Stamp Days
Will Be Discontinued From Now Until Further Notice

Eagle Stamps will, however, be given on all cash purchases during this Removal Sale & will continue to be an important factor in the upbuilding of this business after we get into our wonderful new store.

BUGLE WAKES AN ARMY OF 25,000 ON GETTYSBURG FIELD

Fifteen Thousand Expected Arrivals Today Will Make 40,000 Veterans Present.

7 OLD NURSES ATTEND

Women Tell of Great Battle While the Blues and the Grays Mingle War Yells.

By Associated Press.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 30.—Twenty-five thousand veterans in blue and gray, the biggest army of its kind that has been gathered together in 60 years, woke today on the field of Gettysburg to the call of reveille and the warlike rattle of pots and pans in a score of mess tents.

Veterans who sat about camp fires until late at night, were up long before the sun climbed over the hills of the Blue Ridge.

Before the electric lights of this modern camp were turned out to make way for the sun, the veterans were singing the songs of war time and the wide streets of the tented city echoed with the "Ki-yi" of the "Johnny rebel" and the hoarse yell of his "Yank brother from the North."

15,000 Expected Today.
The regular army men in charge of the camp expected 15,000 veterans to come to Gettysburg today and by tonight they will be prepared to tent and mess the more than 40,000 men without hitch or delay.

There was no set program and the veterans were left free to look up old friends and old enemies, swap stories of '63, and enjoy themselves in any way they saw fit.

Just as soon as the rations of bacon and eggs and coffee, "fruit of the season," fresh bread and butter, were disposed of in the way all good soldiers dispose of them, the real inspection of the battlefields and the re-telling of the story of Gettysburg began with all the pointed criticism that the private soldier knows so well how to make.

In a quiet little street of the town are seven gray-haired women who acted as volunteer nurses for Union and Confederate veterans alike when the war guns were thundering.

Perhaps to no one of the seven are the recollections of that time more vivid than to Mrs. Salome M. Stewart, a native of Gettysburg, who, except for an interval of a few years, has lived in the house used as an emergency hospital during the famous battle.

At Mrs. Stewart's home has been established the headquarters for the surviving nurses of the war between the states. One arrival is Mrs. Clarissa F. Dye of Philadelphia, who was among the first to respond when the news of Gettysburg filtered in over the wires.

The other aged nurses expected to participate in the anniversary are Miss Cornelia Hancock, Philadelphia; Mrs. Margaret Hamilton, Wakefield, Mass.; Mrs. Helen Cole, Sheboygan Falls, Wis.; Mrs. Helen Cole, Sheboygan Falls, Wis.; Mary Stevens, Peabody, Mass.; Miss Anna Irving, Newburg, N. Y.

Reception by Veterans.
"I ain't seen a rebel yet who didn't charge Round Top and take it all by himself," said a lanky Southerner as he wandered into the quarters of the Pennsylvania contingent.

"No, and I ain't seen a Yank who didn't break up Pickett's charge by his own self," said a smiling Pennsylvanian as they shook hands.

The only set event was the joint reception by the survivors of Gen. Buford's cavalry and the survivors of Gen. Wheeler's cavalry to the citizens of Gettysburg. It was Buford who discovered the gray army advancing on Gettysburg on the morning of July 1, 50 years ago, and the picket who first saw the scouts of Lee swinging up the Chambersburg pike, fired the first shot of the greatest battle of the war.

It was Buford who stubbornly fought the advance of Gen. Heintz's division of the Third Confederate Corps on the July morning until Gen. Reynolds arrived and took command and Wheeler's men helped to make that joint affair a warm one.

CHILDREN FIND WAY TO KEEP COOL IN NEW BATHING POOL JUST OPENED IN LYON PARK

Break in Hot Spell Tuesday; Showers Later in the Week

WASHINGTON, June 30.—A break in the hot wave that has held sway over the central states for several days. In its weekly bulletin the Weather Bureau predicted that the extreme heat would be broken in the plains states Monday or Tuesday and that a cool wave then would move slowly eastward.

"The distribution of atmospheric pressure over the North American continent and the adjacent oceans," the forecast says, "is such as to indicate a break in the hot wave over the plains states Monday and Tuesday and the Mississippi Valley and the upper lake regions Tuesday or Wednesday, followed by moderate temperatures in these districts during several days."

"East of the Mississippi River warm weather will prevail during the first half of the coming week, followed by moderate temperatures after Wednesday or Thursday. Over the Rocky Mountain region and on the Pacific slope temperatures will average below normal."

The rainfall during the week will be generally light and local. A disturbance that now covers the plains states will advance slowly eastward, attended by local thunderstorms, and cross the great central valleys about Tuesday and the Eastern states Thursday."

ing the week.
Gen. Hunter Liggett assumed command of the veterans' camp, and Maj. Norman of the quartermaster's corps, who has been working pretty nearly 24 hours each day for the last two weeks, gave up the office. Gen. Liggett appointed as his Adjutant Lieut. Elmer Bolivar Buckner, son of the Confederate General.

Notable Arrivals in Camp.
Among the notable arrivals at the veterans' camp was Gen. Daniel Sickles, who declined hotel quarters in favor of a tent pitched upon the site where he lost his leg in the battle. Gen. Sickles was escorted to his tent by a cavalry detail and was cheered lustily by warriors of both the blue and the gray.

A picturesque personage who attracted much attention was Gen. Felix H. Robertson of Texas, who came to town clad in the full uniform of a Confederate General. Gen. Robertson, who is proud of the fact that he was at Fort Sumter when the first gun was fired, also declined to accept hospitality of the Pennsylvania Commission, which had provided a comfortable room for him in the dormitory of Pennsylvania College, saying he preferred to share the camp life with his men. This attitude was assumed by Gen. A. J. West of Atlanta, Ga., who bunked with his comrades on the battlefield.

Train of Virginians Arrive.
Among those registered at the headquarters of the commission on the campus of Pennsylvania College are Gov. Clarke of Iowa, Gen. Tilden and Col. Heenan W. Allen of Vermont, Judge E. M. Gibson, Oakland, Cal.; E. L. Hawk, Sacramento, Cal.; F. W. Castelman, New Orleans; J. W. Patterson, New Hampshire, Col. Charles H. McConnell of Chicago brought a tent, which will serve as headquarters of the Iron Brigade and Pettigrew's North Carolina Brigade. These brigades fought each other in the first day's battle. Col. McConnell's tent is the only one in the camp not furnished by the Government.

Other arrivals include Gov. Hanna of Fargo, N. D., accompanied by three members of his staff.

The big train load of Virginia Confederate veterans was given an enthusiastic reception at the station. Men and women shouted and cheered and waved handkerchiefs as the train passed slowly by, and the grizzled veterans, clad in their beloved uniform of gray, hung far out of the car windows and cheered in return.

HEAT IS UNABATED, DEATHS REPORTED IN MANY CITIES

Chicago Leads the List With 50 Dead and More Than 200 Persons Prostrated.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Chicago's hot spell, which began last Friday, continued unabated today with the thermometer in the nineties.

For more than 120 hours the thermometers here have registered around that figure, and neither night nor day has there been more than an indication of lake breeze to temper the suffering.

There had been 42 deaths and more than 200 prostrations from the heat in three days up to the opening of today. Up to noon eight deaths were officially reported and the police cared for 49 or more cases of prostration in public places.

The temperature at 1 o'clock this afternoon was 96 degrees.

A thunderstorm promised for tomorrow is the only relief in sight, but it is predicted that the humidity will decrease also.

ROCKFORD, Ill.—One death and five prostrations were the Sunday results from the heat.

PEORIA, Ill.—Seven deaths and 20 prostrations resulted here from the heat. Among the dead is the Rev. Father Baak of Danville, who came to Peoria from Danville three weeks ago. The Government kiosk yesterday registered 100 degrees in the downtown district and 94 at the West Bluff station. Three prostrated persons were brought in on an excursion steamer.

JOLIET, Ill.—Four persons died from the heat and seven more are reported near death. The temperature yesterday reached 92 degrees. Several persons were reported prostrated.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—More than 20 heat prostrations were reported in Minneapolis and St. Paul yesterday in addition to two drownings. The maximum temperature in Minneapolis was 94, while the highest Government registration here was 92.

LA CROSSE, Wis.—The Mississippi River claimed three victims yesterday, all of whom sought relief from the heat. Street thermometers registered nearly 100.

DAUGHTER KILLED BY MOTHER TO DECEIVE HUSBAND

Wife Feared There Would Be No Reconciliation if He Knew of 12-Year-Old Child.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 30.—That Frances Williams or Ekman, the 12-year-old girl found in a trunk at Ogden Saturday, was murdered by her mother, Mrs. Augustus Ekman, is the conclusion of Salt Lake police as the result of unraveling a tangled mass of evidence.

A post-mortem over the body of the child, disclosed the fact that she had not been mistreated and this was taken to confirm the mother's own story, which, according to the police, was that she chloroformed Frances to prevent C. L. Anderson, her former husband, hearing that she had an illegitimate child. The fact that the girl's life was insured for $100 also may have had an influence, the police say.

According to the story accepted by the police, Anderson arrived here Wednesday from Los Angeles at his wife's solicitation. He married her 14 years ago at Hancock, Mich., and is coming here was for a reconciliation. Before he arrived Mrs. Ekman, by her own confession, murdered her daughter by giving her chloroform, and put the body in a trunk.

After spending the day in a local hotel with the trunk in their room, the couple went to Ogden. Anderson did not know what was in the trunk, which was hauled about from place to place, until he was arrested.

Mrs. Ekman, intellectual, talented and apparently rational, agrees to these details without a sign of emotion.

Anderson left Mrs. Ekman, 14 years ago, in Hancock, Mich., according to Mrs. Ekman, to escape arrest after killing "an Irishman." A year later Mrs. Ekman met George Williams. He left her after Frances was born. Four years ago she married Augustus Ekman, although she was not divorced from Anderson.

In the absence of Ekman, Anderson came here after his wife represented that she had been waiting faithfully for his return for 14 years.

TEACHER OF LATIN, NOW COOK, CAN'T LOCATE ANYWHERE

Starts for St. Paul, Comes Here, Quits Job He Gets and Fails to Write to Fiancee.

René des Granges, 27 years old, and a Latin scholar, wishes to get rid of a flax which is spoiling his career. He told city hospital physicians Monday of the illogical things which the flax has made him do, and which were just contrary to the things he seriously intended to do, and believes he should have done. Two weeks ago he says the flax prevented his intended marriage.

If he acted continuously without reason and on wild impulse, he said, he could consider himself insane. But his irrational acts, as he describes them, come only once in awhile—just often enough to keep him from accomplishing anything really worth while.

When he was teaching Latin two years ago in Providence, R. I., he said, he had a sudden impulse to quit school work, and he quit, with nothing particular in view. He has since worked as a cook, and his flax has kept him from staying anywhere long enough to be a successful cook.

Leaves Fiancee Behind.
He worked west from place to place, he related, and in Mt. Pleasant, Io, he met Miss Laura Barish and became engaged to her. He got a job in St. Paul, and started for that city intending to take up his new work and send for his fiancee as soon as he could find a place where they could live. When he left her, they planned to be married within a week.

He changed cars at Burlington, Io, where he was to buy his ticket for St. Paul. Instead of buying a ticket for St. Paul, he bought one for St. Louis. He did this for no reason in the world that he is aware of, but with full knowledge of what he was doing.

Coming to St. Louis, he got odd jobs as cook, and in a few days got a steady place in Valley Park. A week ago Sunday, for no reason at all, he declares, he quit that place.

He has not written to his Iowa sweetheart since he came to St. Louis, and says he doesn't know what she will think of him.

He said he suffered concussion of the brain from a fall on the ice when he was a boy. The hospital physicians say he may be suffering from dementia precox, which manifests itself only occasionally, in its earlier stages, by means of irrational acts.

MOTOR BOAT SINKS, AEROPLANE FALLS; REGATTA SPOILED

There would have been a motorboat and hydroaeroplane regatta on the Missouri River at St. Charles Sunday afternoon had it not been for a remarkable series of mishaps, witnessed by a large crowd assembled to see the races.

Here are some of the things that happened:
While George L. Holton of 6888 Delmar avenue, secretary of the Benoit Aircraft Co., was speeding in a motorboat to rescue two men who had fallen with a hydroaeroplane his foot was caught in the running coil of a tow-line and so badly crushed that it had to be amputated. Holton is at St. Joseph's Hospital, St. Charles, in a serious condition.

Hydroaeroplane Falls.
William F. Bleakley, an aviator, and Henry Broeker, a St. Charles Councilman, were flying in a hydroaeroplane when one of the wings collapsed and the machine fell into the river. Bleakley and Broeker were hurled from the machine and came near drowning before they found refuge on a sandbar. It was in trying to rescue them that Holton was injured.

The Narco, a racing launch, while going 40 miles an hour in a 10-mile speed contest, suddenly pointed its nose downward and sank in 30 feet of water. The owner, Charles Godlove of 2344 Whitmore place, and his mechanic, clung to a life raft until they were rescued by Dr. Max C. Starkloff in his launch, Norma.

In the 10-mile race the Missouri III, owned and operated by Hugo Lippert of 1923A Warren street, struck a log and was disabled.

Girl Has to Swim a Mile.
Miss Vera Andrews, who rides standing on a narrow board towed by a fast launch, slipped from the board and fell into the river. She swam nearly a mile before she was picked up, exhausted.

George Wyess and George Jones, St. Charles youths, while giving a swimming exhibition, became tired or cramped and sank from sight. They were rescued by boatmen.

Of 15 motor boats which were to have started in the scheduled events, 14 were disabled when the engines were clogged by the sandy, muddy water of the Missouri River.

SELLERS DEPRESS GRAIN

Wheat Loses Nearly One Cent on Rains in the Northwest—Corn Also Is 1 Cent Down—Oats Are Easy.

Candy Common Sells $8; Bank List Is Neglected.

Wheat futures were a shade easier Monday. The weather map showed general rains were needed in North Dakota, and spring wheat is in a favorable position for this season of the year. Ample moisture has fallen to carry the crop for some time to come, and unless the unforeseen happens, the spring wheat "crop killers" will be forced to fall back on "black rust" to cut down the yield, should the weather turn cool and wet in the Northwest.

Weather in the Southwest was favorable for harvest, and predictions were for lower temperatures later in the week. The movement of new wheat should be heavy early this year, as the hot weather has forced an early harvest.

The Liverpool wheat market opened under moderate realising and was 4d to 5d lower, being influenced by better weather in the American and Canadian Northwest, and continued favorable reports from Western Europe. Following the opening, there was some covering in July on light world's shipments and a decrease in the amount on passenger cargoes were more firmly held and Indian offers were dearer.

Liverpool corn opened 1/4d lower and further declined 1/4d, with the undertone of large wheat shipments to India. Plate offers and continued free arrivals at Argentine ports led to realising.

Liverpool wheat futures closed 1/4d to 1/2d lower, corn 1/4d to 1/2d lower, and wheat 1/4d to 1/2d lower. The domestic wheat visible decreased 1,200,000 bu for the week; corn increased 1,150,000 bu; oats increased 2,820,000 bu.

The total visible supply showed: Wheat—20,163,000 bu; Corn—11,179,000 bu; Oats—1,175,000 bu.

Cash oats steady to 1/4c higher; demand good.

World's wheat shipments for the week were 10,578,000 bu, against 10,578,000 bu last week and 12,316,000 bu last year.

World's wheat shipments for the week were 10,578,000 bu, against 10,578,000 bu last week and 12,316,000 bu last year.

Corn futures were sharply lower on rains in the Southwest. Temperatures still were high in the West but indications are that a break in the hot spell is near. Few authentic reports of crop damage were received, and best opinion is that rain has prevented excess in loss.

County seat of Sebastian County, Arkansas, industrial and distributing centers of population estimated 27,000, which was 100% during the last decade.

Bonds were issued a tax was levied property in the District to provide for school and interest. The tax was divided six, of which have been collected.

The issue has been approved by Messrs. Atrell and Longborough, Attorneys, living financial statement and will be furnished on request.

POST-DISPATCH DAILY COMIC PAGE

The Jarr Family

A daily record written for the Post-Dispatch Comic Page.

Mr. Jarr hasn't been in Gus' saloon, and yet where is the money he saved?

"H

Mr. Jarr turned at the sound and came to a halt. "No, don't stop," said Gus, "and don't come in my place at all! I just see you go by and I'll be able to say that since you won't come in my liquor store no more, why don't you do it."

Mr. Jarr, glancing up the street from the corner of his eye, and noting no domestic entry had observed him, dodged into the cafe. Gus held the door against him, but as it was a double door, Mr. Jarr slipped inside.

"I ain't going to serve you any more," said Gus. "If you pass me up, as do done the last week or so, then you can keep on doing it."

"Gus!" said Mr. Jarr, feigning. "Don't be hard on an old pal. I've been having a splendid time getting a suit of clothes."

"Everybody except the wimmins has a dreadful time getting a suit of clothes," replied Gus. "Kin a feller come in mit a big check suit you could play chess games on and say to his wife: 'What you think of it, hey? It's an old thing I had made over!'"

"I guess you're right," said Mr. Jarr. "After a man is through with a suit of clothes it's done for."

"No, he can't say 'I bought a Rembrandt for $3 and had a milliner feller make it over for me,'" Gus went on. "A Rembrandt," repeated Mr. Jarr. "How could you fix over last year's suit of clothes with an old Master? What good is a costly oil painting of the Dutch school to patch a pair of trousers with?"

"I don't know," said Gus. "And, furthermore, I ain't asking no questions. But when my wife Lena says she buys a Rembrandt for two dollars and with it fixes an old dress like new, and it's a shame she has to do it, why should I pick a fight with her? A Rembrandt sells for a million dollars, I see in the papers."

"You have got things mixed up, Gus," said Mr. Jarr. "Your wife, and mine, buys remnants—pieces of cloth left over that are sold cheap—not Rembrandts—Rembrandts are pictures."

"I suppose so," said Gus. "I didn't know what it meant, but I wasn't going to start something by asking. All I want to know is where you been?"

"I've been kept on the jump," said Mr. Jarr. "But it's all right now."

"Blavinsky gets a big glass-put-in job and gets home so tired I don't see much of him for a week," complained Gus. "Bepko is getting his butcher shop tiled on the floor, Rafferty has been away. Rangle I don't see for a day or two. If it wasn't for my transom trade I'd have to go out of business."

"Your transom trade?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"Yes, fellers that you don't know who just drop in and try to pass Canadian money on you, or fellers looking at the paper running out of the sporting ticket, or loafers what come in to light their pipes and don't buy nothing, that's transome trade."

"Transient trade," corrected Mr. Jarr. "Well, if your regular customers haven't been coming in for some days, they'll have more money to spend when they do come in."

"No, they won't!" said Gus. "That's a thing I never could figure out—and it's this: What becomes of the money that ain't spent? Who has it?"

"What do you mean?" asked Mr. Jarr.

"Why, look here!" resumed Gus. "Here's a young feller, he don't smoke a pack of cigarettes a day—that's $28 a year, ain't it? In 30 years that's $840, ain't it? Well, old Grandfather Terwilliger up the street is 30 years old, and never smoked a pack of cigarettes a day—where's his $840? He ain't got it!"

"Maybe he spent the money on something else," suggested Mr. Jarr.

"No, he's a tightwad," said Gus. "Furthermore, I am at Delmar already in the summer, and it rains on Saturday and Sunday. The Kleinschiller, he runs a shooting gallery and moving pictures and frankfurters, and he says when it rains he loses $1000. One summer I seen to rain 10 Sundays—who's got that $10,000 that ain't spent that year?"

"Search me!" remarked Mr. Jarr.

"Now, you ain't been in my place for a week," added Gus. "Did you get rich on what you saved not spending in here?"

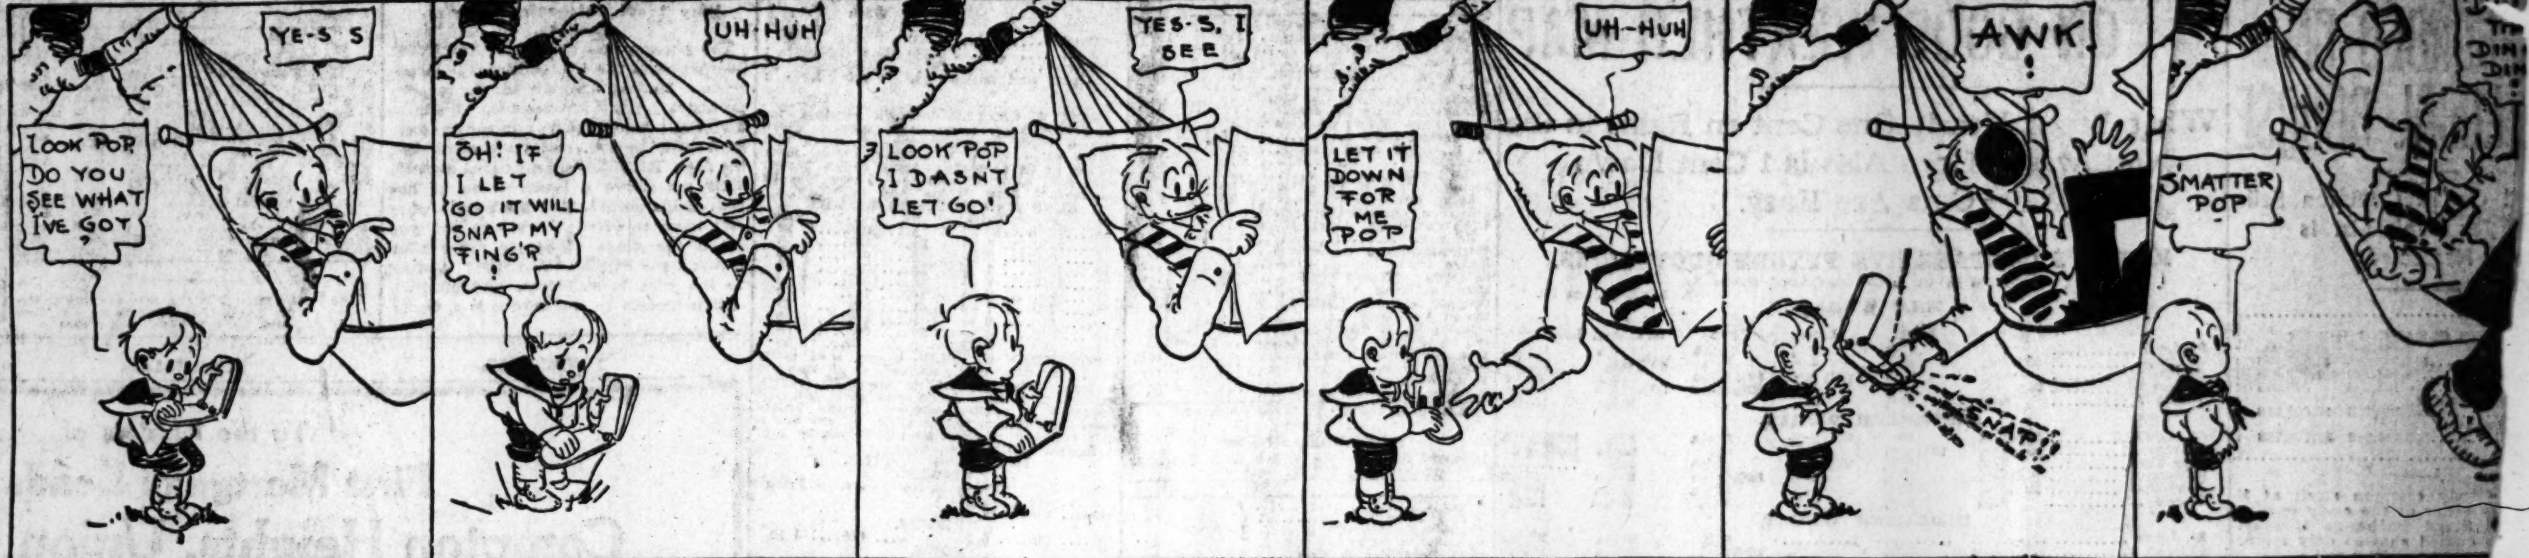

"No, Gus, I didn't," Mr. Jarr confessed. "But I'll tell you what I'll do, I'll treat it if you'll check it up."

"I thought so," said Gus. "Well, what'll you have?"

Stories St. Louisans Tell

HIS RIGHT ARM WAS WRONG.

CAPT. "BOB" LEE, secretary of the Sales Managers and Auto Show manager, was driving in his automobile around the corner of Broadway and Market street Tuesday when a "Weary Willie" got in the way. He paid no attention to the horn, and to avoid hitting him Lee ran his car up on the sidewalk, barely touching the man with the fender.

"Are you hurt?" said Lee when he jumped out.

"Purty bad," said he, holding his right arm tight. "I'm afraid its busted."

"Why, confound you," said Lee observing something, "you're holding the wrong arm."

"Oh, G-d," said Willie, and like a child caught stealing jam, he ran.

Selling Relics.

"YOU say this sword came from a genuine battlefield?"

"Yes."

"How much?"

"Three dollars, with an appropriate anecdote. Or, if you don't care for the anecdote, you can have the sword for $2.00."

Punished.

"MAMMA, were you fond of flirting when you were young?"

"I am afraid I was, dear."

"And were you ever punished for it, mamma?"

"Yes, dear. I married your father."

1/4 lb Tins 20¢ At Grocers

Schotten's ICETE TEA

The Tea you have been using for HOT Tea becomes a "tea tangle" when ICED. It is harsh and bitter, with a pronounced "kick."

Schotten's ICETE

is blended—a tea for strength, a tea for flavor and a tea for color. When iced it has that throat-quenching, mellow pungency that makes it the most satisfying hot-weather drink.

SIP IT. Make it long, lingering drink, and you'll be DELIGHTED.
